Tierney defeated in primary stunner

Finegold bid for State Treasurer ends

BY JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor
Jayne@YourTownCrier.com

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - In a stunning upset, newcomer Seth Moulton soundly defeated 9 term Congressman John Tierney in Tuesday's primary for the 6th District.

Closer to home Barry Finegold was defeated in his bid for State Treasurer, capturing just 32 percent of the vote. Though he handily won both Tewksbury and Wilmington, it wasn't enough to surpass Deborah Goldberg's 43 percent. In Tewksbury, Finegold received 1,615 votes, to Goldberg's 422 votes, and Thomas Conroy's 286. In Wilmington, Finegold earned 925 votes to Goldberg's 471 and Conroy's 295.

Martha Coakley won the primary for Governor over Steve Grossman and Don Berwick, however she captured just under half the vote - not exactly translating into a mandate from her own party. In Tewksbury and Wilmington, her margin of victory was very small, reflecting the overall narrowness of the race. She won by just 33 votes in Tewksbury and 53 votes in Wilmington.

The big upset of the night, however, came when John Tierney eventually conceded the contest to Seth Moulton. Tierney spoke briefly to supporters thanking them for their support over the years. "It's been just an amazing eighteen years and we appreciate you standing with us," he said, and then left the stage.

Moulton mounted a campaign over the summer targeting Tierney, while Tierney ignored him and focused on Tisei. Moulton spent just half a million dollars on an advertising campaign.

During his speech to supporters Moulton said, "Our win tonight says two things, first, that we are fed up with the gridlock in Washington, and second, that voters want to keep this seat blue. It's time for a new approach."

During the campaign Moulton hammered Tierney's record and lack of passed bills and new ideas over his nearly two decades in office. Further, three other democratic candidates were in the race, siphoning off a few more votes, particularly Marisa DeFranco, who came in third with six percent of the vote.

Locally, Tierney just did not resonate with voters. Tewksbury was new to his district, previously being represented by Niki Tsongas. Visits to this area during the last two years were few and he did not seem to connect with voters.

In Tewksbury, Tierney received 740 votes to Moulton's 1,141. DeFranco received 223, John Devine received 170, and John Gutta just 28.

Tisei, who ran unopposed on the Republican ballot, responded to the Moulton victory swiftly issuing a statement saying, "I want to congratulate Seth for his win tonight. The real fight to change the direction of our country begins now. Seth himself has said repeatedly in Congress he would vote the same as John Tierney. That means Seth Moulton will rubberstamp the failed direction Washington is taking our country."

"The choice in this election is clear. Who will be the most effective advocate for change and progress in Washington? I'm the

Pipeline could impact local well fields

BY JON BISHOP

WILMINGTON—William Holt, the Assistant Town Engineer, came before the Board of Selectmen on Monday in order to offer updates on the Kinder Morgan Pipeline and the Northeast Municipal Gas Pipeline Coalition, of which he is an observing member.

As the proposal currently stands, the pipeline, according to Holt, will run through Salem Street. It also goes through conservation land, and it is within 400 feet of a public well.

In total, it passes through twenty-one properties, thirteen of which are commercial and eight of which are town-owned. One-third of it travels along the old railroad bed. The pipeline itself, if built, will run through much of the northeast—including ANDOVER—It helps to be familiar with the energy world—especially if you're attempting to propose an alternative to a Kinder Morgan Pipeline.

On Monday, the Northeast Municipal Gas Pipeline Coalition, which consists of representatives from Andover, Ashby, Brookline, New Hampshire, Dracut, Dunstable, Groton, Littleton, North Reading, Pepperell, Tewksbury, and Townsend, as well as some observer members, listened to a presentation from Dr. Dennis Eklof, who is part of the Groton group and is owner of Eklof and Associates, an energy consulting firm, about the Kinder Morgan project.

"I've been doing a lot of research on this project," he said, noting that he had to "pull together a lot of diverse information."

His purpose was to point out why the project, as it currently stands, is flawed and to offer suggestions for alternatives.

One reason the pipeline isn't a good idea: Natural gas might not be sustainable.

"There are people out there who say that this is a

Town won't collect storm foliage

By JON BISHOP
News Correspondent
Jon@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON—

Last Saturday's storm, which prompted tornado warnings across the Merrimack Valley, downed trees and branches across town, particularly in the Hathaway Acres and Park Street area. Town Manager Jeff Hull said at the Selectmen meeting Monday night that "people have been cleaning up that brush and pulling it to the curb."

But the town won't be picking up any of the brush, so it'll remain on the side of the road, unless people bring it to a brush drop-off day. Hull said there will be two: one on September 17, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., and another on September 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

North Reading

North Reading would like to acquire Wilmington's three acres of the former J.T. Berry property, but since they notified Wilmington officials on September 4 and expected an answer by the 12th, both the Board and Town Manager Jeff Hull worried that there wouldn't be enough time to make a decision.

Hull, in a note to the Board of Selectmen, wrote: "Mr. [Michael] Gilleberto and North Reading Selectman Michael Prisco spoke with me late in the day on September 3rd about their desire to develop the property, possibly for commercial use. As far as I know, Wednesday's conversation was the first communication made to the town about the proposed redevelopment."

He wrote that a likely impact might be increased traffic on Route 62.

Noteable

- The annual Horribles Parade will be on October 26. Participants should assemble in front of the Public Safety Building by 4:30 p.m.

- The Historical Commission and the Farmers' Market will host a classic car show on September 14, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. It'll be at the Swain School. The rain date is September 21st.

Pennsylvania and New York—and it'll end up at the coast.

Though the Coalition publicly maintains a neutral posture, it is actually opposed to the pipeline project, Holt said. Paul Alunni, the Town Engineer, said that "it sounds like there are a lot of conflicting statistics" and interests at play.

Having heard from Kinder Morgan and the Coalition, Holt said that the solution is probably somewhere in the middle.

Nevertheless, he did say that the pipeline will have some impact, particularly on the environment and on farmlands.

George Lingenfelter, a resident, shared this concern.

"I don't think it would be advisable to mess with [the well fields], including the one at Brown's Crossing," he said. "Two of our remaining wells are being impacted here."

The Board of Selectmen said that it's important to consider both sides.

"I can't imagine that, if they run this pipeline through Massachusetts, we wouldn't benefit from it," said Selectman Michael McCoy. If it will [have benefits], "then I'm all for it."

"I come from the school of common sense," he added. "I don't think any politician would be in favor, if we weren't going to benefit."

Town Manager Jeff Hull said that the pipeline is "almost like a highway." Municipalities with direct connections to highways often benefit. Thus they need to determine if the pipeline will have any Wilmington exits.

But he agreed with concerns about the well fields.

He said Holt should continue to attend the meetings for the purpose of gathering more information.

Selectman Mike Champoux agreed and he echoed McCoy, noting that "we have to be open to other sources of growth."

"You've got to pay to play," he said. "We all use natural resources."

A low voter turnout in both towns, and indeed across the state, was expected. In Tewksbury 3,277 residents voted of 21,071, representing a 15.6 percent turnout. In Wilmington 2,524 citizens voted of 15,581 registered voters, representing a 16.2 percent voter turnout.

WILMINGTON - A Wilmington man was indicted this week on multiple charges of larceny and conspiracy. Robert Reinhart, 53, of Wilmington was indicted by a Middlesex County Grand Jury along with Clarissa Rodriguez, 48, of Arlington and Michael Muller, 69, of Port Jervis, New York, and Sebastian, Florida. Allegedly, as much as $350,000 has been stolen from local investors and inventors according to Middlesex District Attorney, Marian Ryan.

The event that launched the initial investigation into Reinhart's activities began in Wilmington, October 9, 2013. Officers and detectives from the Wilmington Police Department responded to a call from Citizens Bank located in the Wilmington Plaza when a bank employee was concerned about an $80,000 deposit. The employee did not believe the deposit was legitimate and feared one of the parties was being scammed.

The victim, a Billerica resident, was allegedly bilked out of inheritance money and jewelry by Reinhart, using the alias John McCarthy, and Rodriguez, who proposed placing her property in high-return investments. It is alleged that Muller acted as the knowing courier, attempting to gain possession of $80,000 cash belonging to the victim.

Based on this incident, only Muller was arrested on the scene and charged with attempted larceny by false pretenses, according to Lt. Detective Brian Pupa. "Based on follow-up police investigation involving Wilmington Detective Brian Stickney, more information was obtained and further instances of alleged scams were discovered." That evidence lead to this week's indictment of Reinhart, Rodriguez, and Muller.

"People gave thousands of dollars, and their business plans or creative ideas, to these defendants and never got the meetings, or profits, or transactions that were promised," said District Attorney Ryan.

Reinhart, a Wilmington native who graduated from Wilmington High School, was charged with 11 counts of larceny over $250, including larceny over $250 from a person over 60 years of age, attempted larceny, larceny of less than $250 and conspiracy to commit larceny.

Rodriguez was charged with 11 counts of larceny over $250, and Muller was charged with attempted larceny over $250 and conspiracy.

Prosecutors allege that Reinhart, Rodriguez and Muller took money from inventors seeking to patent and sell their creations, then never delivered the promised meetings or sales.

Authorities allege Reinhart and Rodriguez portrayed themselves as financially savvy, experienced and successful business people, able to provide advice and assistance to develop property, promote and market inventions and offer investment guidance.

The following activity allegedly took place between 2008 to 2013:

In 2008 in Chelmsford Reinhart and Rodriguez allegedly proposed a condominium construction project for a retired couple on their home property. The victim issued checks totaling over $192,000 and allegedly, despite multiple requests by the victim for a refund through September 2009, only landscaping work was done on the site.

Also in 2009, residents of Townsend, Massachusetts were allegedly solicited by Reinhart and Rodriguez to support an organization called "Missing Persons Bureau" that would attempt to solve the 1977 disappearance of a 14-year-old girl in that town. Residents received flyers seeking financial contributions and the mother of the missing girl was asked to contribute money. Townsend's police chief was sent a bill for expenses incurred by the "Bureau" and withdrew support, authorities allege. After unfavorable publicity about Reinhart's past financial dealings, Reinhart canceled the proposed investigation.

Lt. Detective Pupa says he is not currently aware of any Wilmington residents who may have fallen victim to these scams. The Middlesex District Attorney's office does not have any specific information for Wilmington residents "because over the passage of time some victims have moved away," said a spokesperson.

Authorities allege these are wide-ranging crimes and there may be other victims who have not yet come forward but may still hope to have monies returned.

"These defendants are alleged to have used other people's money in a series of textbook 'confidence' schemes. These so-called deals took many different forms so there may be other people and companies who also have lost money in connection with these defendants," said District Attorney Ryan.

This case was investigated by the Wilmington Police and Chelmsford detective bureau and police in Portsmouth, New Hampshire and Kittery, Maine.

All three defendants are scheduled to be arraigned in Middlesex Superior Court in Woburn on September 11.

These charges are allegations and the defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty.

COLLEGE SAVINGS VS RETIREMENT

College tuition and board are astronomical these days—and rising. But living and medical expenses for retirees are high, too. What's a family to do? What do you save for?

The hard-and-fast rule, surprising to many, is to fund retirement first. Loans are available to cover college costs, but you cannot borrow for retirement. And it costs more for an adult child to care for a needy elderly parent than to pay off college debt. Experts recommend that those with a 401(k) contribute at least enough to get the maximum employer match, preferably up to a maximum contribution. Have a fund for emergency expenses. Then fund a 529 plan for the children.

More ideas: parents can work a little longer; students can earn, too. Do financial homework before choosing colleges; what type of school can you really afford? And consider a flexible, tax-free Roth for either retirement or college needs.

Good advice? You bet! That's what you get from the helpful folks at

Market Basket begins recovery after 6 weeks of turmoil

17,000 jobs lost nationwide after boycott, shutdown

By DENISE LAVOIE
Associated Press

TEWKSBURY/RAYNHAM (AP) — Alice Farrington has her pick of four supermarkets, all a quick drive from her home.

But this week, instead of going to one of those stores, she drove about 10 miles to shop at a place she's heard a lot about lately: Market Basket, the family-owned New England chain that gained national attention when warehouse employees walked off their jobs and customers boycotted over the firing of the chain's popular leader.

After a six-week protest that cost Market Basket millions in lost sales, the company announced that an agreement had been reached for Arthur T. Demoulas to buy the chain, putting him back in control of the century-old business.

As Market Basket begins picking up the pieces, it is looking to its loyal customer base as well as new shoppers like Farrington, who decided to check out Market Basket after reading glowing testimonials from employees and customers.

"I figured I'd try it — my neighbor is always telling me how much cheaper the prices are, and with all the publicity this summer," Farrington said.

A week after Arthur T. Demoulas reached an agreement to purchase the 50.5 percent interest owned by his rival, cousin Arthur S. Demoulas, and other family members, Farrington found most, but not everything, she was hoping to buy. Store managers reported that their shelves, which had been severely depleted, were filling up quickly now that everyone was back to work.

Some items were still missing or scarce, though, including fresh chicken, hot dogs and yogurt.

"I would say we're up to about 80 percent," said Tom Trainor, a supervisor who was fired after he helped organize the employee revolt but is now back at work. He said he expects the stores to be 90 to 95 percent stocked this week-end.

Company management did not return calls seeking numbers on customer volume and sales since the walkout ended Aug. 27.

Kevin Griffin, publisher of The Griffin Report of Food Marketing, said the crisis turned into a "feel good story" that could attract many new customers.

"I think everybody admires the workers — the people that held out — because typically those things don't end well," Griffin said.

"You'll have new customers going to Market Basket because of the intrigue: 'What's all the fuss about this Market Basket company? Are their prices really that low? Are the workers really that nice?'" he said.

But Gary Chaison, a professor of labor relations at Clark University, said he doesn't think Market Basket will draw many new customers and may have trouble getting back some of its old customers, who may have become accustomed to shopping elsewhere during the standoff.

"I think they're bouncing back remarkably quickly, in terms of getting everyone in there, generating good publicity and restocking the shelves," Chaison said. "The question is: After a week or two weeks, will the glow be gone?"

The walkout and sharp decline in customers prompted company management to drastically reduce the hours of part-time workers. Many employees in Massachusetts and New Hampshire applied for unemployment benefits.

On Friday, the U.S. Labor Department acknowledged the impact, reporting that food and beverage stores nationwide lost 17,000 jobs in August, affected by "employment disruptions at a grocery store chain in New England."

Market Basket customers said they were impressed by the fortitude shown by employees who risked losing their jobs and the devotion of Arthur T. Demoulas to a company started by his grandfather. Demoulas is popular among workers and customers for offering generous benefits and keeping prices low.

"Sometimes you lose faith, but when you see something like this, you think there are people who really do care, people who think of other people, and it's not all about money, money, money," said John Viola, a retired roller skating teacher who returned to shop this week at Market Basket.

Tewksbury's Beautification Committee Announces Fall Clean-Up Day

Saturday, October 4

The Tewksbury Beautification Committee announces its Fall Clean Up Day, Saturday, October 4, 2014 from 9:00AM-2:00PM.

Following a successful spring event in which residents collected over 750 pounds of trash, the Committee is excited to offer this autumn clean up opportunity.

Interested citizens, community groups, church and sports groups are encouraged to register via Sign Up Genius at <http://goo.gl/V9YJ3v> or by emailing clean.up.tewbury@gmail.com.

Over twelve miles of roads have been identified for this season's effort. The primary focus is Main Street, Shawsheen Street, Route 133, and South Street.

Individual volunteers or team leads are asked to visit the Beautification Committee tent at the Tewksbury Country Club parking lot to receive bags, gloves, safety vests and cones for collecting trash during the event. Each team will receive a contact card to call or text for their trash and supplies to be picked up when they are finished. Any amount of time is appreciated, so come when you can!

This is an ideal opportunity to earn Community Service hours, and there is a free raffle for donated prizes from local merchants such as Altitude Trampoline Park and Merrimack Valley Pavilion.

The Committee would also like to thank its partners - Tewksbury Department of Public Works, Tewksbury's Bicycle Pedestrian and Advisory Committee, Tewksbury Town Hall, Tewksbury Board of Selectman, and the Police Department.

Tierney's miscalculation?

Seth Moulton's stunning upset over sitting Congressman John Tierney is no surprise, in fact, for many long time pols in Massachusetts (and voters too evidently). For many it's a relief.

But it cost Moulton some money as well. His campaign, through August 20, raised $1.65 million and spent $1.16 million. He is sitting on less than half a million dollars. His new opponent, Richard Tisei, has more than $750K in cash on hand, but his fundraising has been a little less, at $1.35 million raised so far.

Tactically speaking, Tierney either greatly underestimated Moulton or just threw in the towel. Personally, I think the former. Having raised $1.9 million, he only spent $647,241 through August 20. His campaign war chest still had $1.31 million in cash on hand and he certainly did not use it to his best advantage. Only late in the race did he seem to take Moulton seriously, engaging him in a few debates and launching a defensive commercial late in the game.

For anyone that subscribes to the campaign emails, and I get them all, the Tierney camp's 457 daily emails carried a strong whiff of desperation. Clearly effective at raising money, they kept their messaging focused on creating a false image of Richard Tisei (characterizing him as a Tea Party republican for instance) or just banked on hatred of John Boehner rather than working for locking in the primary.

In the end it was a mistake. The race that CNN had previously characterized as 'tilting' democratic within the last week became a 'toss-up.'

With Moulton's victory, the campaign for the 6th district becomes solidly about the issues, and not entirely about the ineffectual Congress (which 83 percent of Americans view unfavorably).

Let the race begin!

Carpool Tunnel Syndrome

by Scott Mullooney

Driving into Boston this summer took a pleasurable turn when I added a carpool passenger to my morning commute. My nineteen-year-old son was fortunate enough to acquire a job in the administration office at his college in Boston. Since we were both now sharing the Monday through Friday 9 to 5 experience, it made sense to commute together so we could benefit from the time-saving (sanity-saving) carpool lane. Nothing bonds a father and son together like being trapped in a hot car during rush hour traffic on Route 93 heading into Boston on weekday mornings.

For the past two months, I got to share some great conversations with my son. I learned quite a bit about the younger generation. At age 19, Max has developed some strong opinions about the world we live in. During our commutes, we discussed subjects from world politics to world music and everything in between. I tried to gauge his political views by tuning my car radio to a radical right-wing republican talk show. I was curious to see my son's reaction to the thought provoking solutions to political problems proposed by the histrionic host. Max was infuriated by some of the things he heard on the broadcast. I egged him on by suggesting he call in to the show to voice his anger, but he wouldn't take the bait. What I didn't expect to get from my son was a passionate dialog on world politics. I learned where he stands on the hard hitting issues of today. I even learned a few history lessons in the process. My son educated me on the crisis in the Ukraine, the crisis in the Middle East and the illegal alien influx at our borders. He had a surprising amount of knowledge on subjects I didn't even think would be on his personal radar.

When I asked where he obtained all this information, my son explained his generation doesn't get news from standard sources like radio, newspapers or television. They don't trust mass media outlets who tell listeners what they want to hear. They go outside the box and tune in overseas news stations or grassroots social media web sites that offer news from the street level.

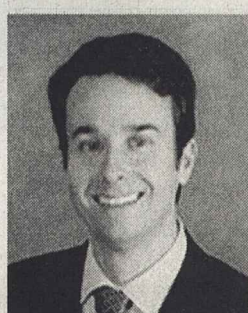

I wasn't the only one pushing buttons during our captive commutes. I didn't appreciate my son's snarky tone when he asked, "Dad, what's it like to be part of the dying newspaper industry?" I told him some people actually preferred reading newspapers instead of reading things illuminated by the harsh artificial light of a cold computer screen. (He didn't buy it.) I told him not all newspaper readers were "old people". (He begged to differ.) He pointed out the fact that newspapers can't stay current with breaking news stories. (I begged to differ.) I defended the benefits of reading a physical copy of a newspaper, something tactile you can have and hold in your hand, something you can take anywhere. My heartfelt defense was a tough sell to a tough audience, but it made interesting morning conversation.

Since my son is a professional guitarist and I am a professional music lover, music was a frequent topic of conversation. We analyzed the changes in the almost non-existent music industry. Thanks to my satellite radio, we compared music from the sixties to music of today. When we took a break from the radio, I was exposed to some interesting jazz music. My son played a CD by musicians Charlie Hunter and Scott Amendola. The jazz duo performs cover versions of rock-and-roll songs from The Cars. I still can't grasp the concept of jazz. It's way too cerebral for a pop-culture guy like me, but I'm beginning to see the light.

We talked about my son's future plans after graduation further down the road. He has some lofty goals - and all the resources to achieve them. He realizes his future is in his hands.

Last week I helped Max move back to school. Morning gridlock won't be the same. Sure, I can argue with the radio by myself, much to the entertainment of shocked onlookers in passing cars. I can pass time by singing along with songs on the radio or jotting down cartoon ideas in my handy notebook that sits on the now vacant passenger seat beside me. I can get lost in thought reminiscing about the old days. Mostly I find myself thinking back on the fading summer that came and went so fast. Someday soon, when I look back on the good old days, being stuck in traffic while commuting and conversing with my son will be one of the highlights. These are the things memories are made of.

Op-Ed: Under 26? Should You Stay on Your Parent's Health Insurance?

By Jason Alderman

In their quest to land a job, any job, many young adults will sacrifice what used to be called "fringe benefits" to gain a foot in the door. But many entry-level jobs either offer no healthcare benefits, or the employee's cost share is prohibitive for someone barely making minimum wage. Add to the equation that most twentysomethings are in good health and rarely visit the doctor and it's easy to see why many will forego health insurance in favor of paying other bills.

But that's a dangerous choice. One serious accident or illness can rack up thousands of dollars in bills. In fact, over half of all personal bankruptcies result from unpaid medical bills. Plus, there's usually a tax penalty for going uninsured.

Fortunately, since the Affordable Care Act (ACA) rolled out, young adults now have more health insurance options than before. In addition to buying coverage through their employer (if offered), people under age 26 may also choose to enroll in their parent's plan, even if they're married or no longer a dependent, or to buy an individual plan through the health insurance marketplace.

If you're currently without coverage or want to explore better options, this is the perfect time to start researching what's available. Here's why:

- For most employer-sponsored benefit plans, the open enrollment period to sign up for 2015 benefits happens in the next few months. Watch for communications from your own employer and ask your parents to do likewise if their company provides dependent health coverage. ACA's 2015 open enrollment period is November 15, 2014 to February 15, 2015.

- With both employer plans and ACA, if you miss open enrollment you'll have to wait until the following year to apply unless: you're applying for Medicaid; you qualify for a special enrollment period because of a family status change (e.g., marriage, divorce, birth of child); or you lose your current coverage.

- Another good reason to enroll in a healthcare plan is the so-called individual mandate, an ACA regulation that says most people must maintain health insurance with minimum essential coverage for themselves and their dependents or be subject to a penalty for non-compliance.

Certain people, like those whose income falls below the federal poverty line, are exempt from the penalty. But keep in mind that even if you opt to forego insurance and pay the penalty, you'll still be responsible for all your healthcare expenses. For more information, go to www.healthcare.gov/exemptions.

If your parent's plan offers dependent coverage, they can add you until you turn 26, even if you are: married; not living with your parents; attending school; eligible for worse coverage through your own employer; or not financially dependent on your parent. If they're already covering other dependents, there may be little or no cost to add you to their plan. Plus, they can generally pay the premium using pre-tax dollars if it's an employer-provided plan.

Other coverage options include:

Those under 30 can buy a catastrophic health plan designed to financially protect against worst-case scenarios like a serious accident or illness. For information, search "catastrophic" at www.healthcare.gov.

If you can't afford your employer's insurance and your income falls below certain levels, you may qualify for a tax credit that reduces the cost of ACA plan coverage.

In addition, many states expanded eligibility for their Medicaid programs under the ACA, meaning you could earn more and now qualify for Medicaid. To learn more about subsidies and Medicaid eligibility, search "income levels" at www.healthcare.gov.

Let's Talk About Hearing

by Lolly Wigall

Public Servants need hearing tests too!

Recently I saw a police officer for a hearing test. He reported a history of target practicing for his job. He had to qualify regularly to maintain his job. When he was at the target range, he of course used hearing protection. That is good.

But, if he has to fire his weapon while on duty he has no time to put on hearing protection! It is usually a split second decision to draw and fire his gun. If this happens, it is possible to have hearing damage.

Firepersons are at risk for hearing loss on the job too. They are exposed to loud sirens when they are on the way to a fire or an emergency situation. They need to be alert to traffic that may not heed the sirens. They cannot use hearing protection since they need to hear other sounds. While at a fire, there may be loud explosions that can cause hearing loss. They need to be able to hear internal communications with others to be safe in fighting the fire.

I try to encourage physicians to refer their patients at age fifty for a hearing test. There are so many baseline tests done at age fifty. But, for people in high risk jobs, it would be good to have a hearing test prior to age fifty. There are many jobs that expose people to loud noises.

Police officers and firepersons are two jobs that are important to have good hearing. The jobs also come with inherent risk for hearing loss. To have an annual hearing test would be a good idea. Most insurance plans will pay for a hearing test. Usually there is co-pay but that is common with all insurance plans.

Other public jobs that can be prone to hearing loss are Department of Public Works. These men and women can drive heavy equipment that can be very noisy. Also, jackhammers are extremely noisy. Usually, hearing protection is worn.

Signs of hearing loss include not being able to understand conversation in a noisy place such as a restaurant. Another sign is having tinnitus or ringing in the ears. Hearing loss usually comes on gradually so the person may not realize that they are missing conversational speech. Asking "What?" repeated can be a sign of not hearing or understanding speech.

Your Two Cents...

Love the new recycling

The new recycling 'toters' are fantastic, but the single stream recycling program is even better. I'll look forward to less detritus on my lawn after trash/recycling day every week.

Neighborly @ the beach

To the woman at Silver Lake last Sunday afternoon who witnessed my daughter's recent intestinal distress, thanks for being so awesome. Your friendliness made her moment slightly less stressful.

Networking Group

Wilmington Memorial Library

WILMINGTON -Are you looking for work or thinking of changing jobs? If so, the library's Networkers group may be for you. It meets the second and fourth Mondays of the month, 9:45 am coffee, 10 am speaker. You will have the opportunity to network with others and learn from experts in the field about how best to position yourself for the job you want. The group has been meeting for the past six months and has hosted a number of wonderful speakers. In the above photo, presenter Mike Chase told the group about his ten steps to shorten the job search, which included a lot of practical advice on staying focused, remaining competitive and maintaining balance. On Monday, September 22nd the topic will be "Navigating Your Job Search: Are you driving with the brakes on?" presented by Trish Pratt Executive and Career Development Coach. Navigating a job search when you are unemployed may be one of the greatest challenges you'll experience in the course of your career. Success often comes easier and sooner when you can maintain focus, clarity and a high level of confidence. Trish will look at ways to help you notice and manage these qualities in your search. Other topics for the fall include: Monday, October 2-Using Age to Your Advantage in Your Job Search, Monday, November 10-Crafting a 30-second value conversation?, Monday, November 24-Lost Your Job? Good Grief. If you are interested in attending, please register on the library's web site (under Event Calendar) or by calling the main desk at 978-658-2967.

The Upscale Consignment Shoppes hours remain Monday- Thursday 11am-3pm and Friday 9-11am. The shops are also open during our special events!

The Senior Center was accepted into this year's Applefest Craft fair, taking place at the Tewksbury Memorial High School on Saturday October 25th, from 9am-3pm. If you would like us to include your crafts at this event, please contact COA Director Ashley Stuart at the number listed above.

Recent recipients of scholarships from the Wilmington Knights of Columbus. Allison Braciska will attend Holy Cross College and Caroline Robarge will attend Endicott College. Every year the KofC gives out two scholarships for $500 each, but this can vary depending on how many applicants they receive. This year they had more applications and outstanding candidates so they gave four applicants $400 each. The recipients have to be children or grandchildren of members of the Knights of Columbus. This year they had two recipients who are the children of members and two who are the grandchildren of a member. They were awarded last week. (l-r) Grand Knight Jared Costantino, scholarship recipients Caroline Robarge and Allison Braciska, and grandfather Dick Hayden.

John M. Giuffre

Worked in the cemetery department for the Archdiocese of Boston

TEWKSBURY - John M. Giuffre, age 52, a long-time resident of Tewksbury, passed away unexpectedly on September 4, 2014, at the Merrimack Valley Hospital.

Born in Revere on August 12, 1962, John was the cherished son of the late Frank and Margaret (Preziosa) Giuffre. John was raised and educated in Malden and was a graduate of Malden High School.

John married his "sweet-heart" Brigitte Burns in 1982; the couple lived in Malden and Everett for several years before moving to Tewksbury and raising their three daughters more than 17 years ago. Family was very important to John, he was a devoted and loving husband, father, son, brother, and was so excited about becoming "Papa John".

John was a very hard worker, for more than 23 years he worked in the cemetery department for the Archdiocese of Boston and in more recent years he worked as the truck driver.

John was a very spirited individual; he loved to have a good time with his family and friends. John had a smile that would light up a room, a great sense of humor, he loved to make people laugh, and you could always count on him for a good joke.

John felt so free and easy when he was riding his Harley Davidson and listening to good music. He also enjoyed riding with friends, taking long road trips, and enjoying his surroundings.

John will be fondly remembered as a giver, never a taker, he had a huge heart and would do anything for anyone. John was a past member of the Tewksbury Lions Club where he enjoyed volunteering throughout the years.

John had so much unconditional love for his family and friends; he will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him.

John was the beloved husband of Brigitte E. (Burns) Giuffre, loving father of Tara-Lee, Jaymie Helena and Kayla Anne Giuffre all of Tewksbury, "Papa John" to his grandson Paul Marino. John was the dear brother of Frank Giuffre of New Hampshire, Rosanne Katz of Malden, the late Stephen Giuffre and Marina Berriola. John is survived by many aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, nephews, in-laws and friends.

Family and friends attended Visiting Hours at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Tuesday, September 9th, from 4-8 p.m. Donations in John's name can be made to the John M. Giuffre Memorial Fund, c/o Bank of America, 390 Main St., Wilmington, MA 01887.

Frances J. Longo

Electronics assembler for Compugraphic; volunteer at AIM

WILMINGTON - Frances J. (Gaudreau) Longo, age 78, of Wilmington, formerly of Stoneham, passed away peacefully surrounded by her family on September 8, 2014 at the Sawtelle Family Hospice House in Reading.

Frances was born on February 13, 1936 in Malden; she was the cherished daughter of the late Elzear and Anna May (Bouchard) Gaudreau. Frances was raised and educated in Malden.

Frances married David Louis Longo on February 15, 1958 and together the couple shared over 43 years of marriage before his passing in February of 2001. Frances and David raised four wonderful children; Patricia, Lori, David and Linda, they lived in Stoneham for more than 20 years before moving to Wilmington in 1979. Family was most important to Frances, she was not only a devoted wife and mother but she cherished her role as a grandmother; she just loved those kids with all her heart. Frances enjoyed family holidays, celebrations, or any occasion to get her family all together, enjoying every minute she spent with them.

Frances worked as an electronics assembler for Compugraphic in Wilmington for many years; her hard work ethic and her friendly personality made her a favorite amongst her co-workers.

Frances loved to socialize and volunteer at A.I.M. (Access is Mandatory) meetings every Tuesday afternoon. Frances gave much of her time helping others and made countless friends throughout the years.

Frances will be fondly remembered for her love of reading, her beautiful smile, her ability to care for others, and for her zest for life; she was a wonderful lady who will be greatly missed.

Frances was the beloved wife of the late David L. Longo, devoted mother of Patricia Delaney and her significant other Michael Hill of Marlborough, CT, Lorraine "Lori" Dalton of Peabody, David A. Longo & his wife Sandra of Lynn, and Linda Jacobson & her husband Gary of Brookline, NH, loving "Grandma" of Alex and Erik Longo, Rebekka, Catherine and Jenna Jacobson, Gregory Dalton, Kerri Zanatta, and Ryan Maguire, and great-granddaughters Giselle and Aaliyah Zanatta, dear sister of Lauretta Guliano of FL, Beatrice Cornell of St. Charles, IL, Albert Gaudreau of Malden, the late Doris Berardi, Annette Carter, and Joseph "Raymond" Gaudreau. Frances is also survived by many loving nieces and nephews.

Family and friends gathered for a Funeral Service at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rte. 62), Wilmington, MA on Thursday, September 11th at 11:00 a.m. Interment followed in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting hours were held at the funeral home on Wednesday, September 10th from 4:00-8:00 p.m. Memorial donations in Frances' name may be made to the Sawtelle Family Hospice House, 320 Haverhill St., Reading, MA 01867. www.nicholsfuneralhome.com

Joseph C. Pelletier, Jr.

Electrical engineer for AVCO/Textron; Korean War US Navy Veteran; "Mr. Fix It"

WILMINGTON - Joseph C. Pelletier, Jr., age 81, of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on September 9, 2014 at the Lahey Clinic Hospital in Burlington.

Joseph was born on June 30, 1933 in Long Island City, New York; he was the cherished son of the late Joseph C., Sr. and Marie P. (Landry) Pelletier. When Joseph was a youngster he moved with his family to Fall River. They later settled in the Pinehurst section of Billerica, MA. Joe enlisted in the United States Navy during the Korean War; he entered active service on July 17, 1950. Joe served aboard the USS Darby and earned the National Defense Medal. Joe was honorably discharged on April 9, 1954 and returned home to his family.

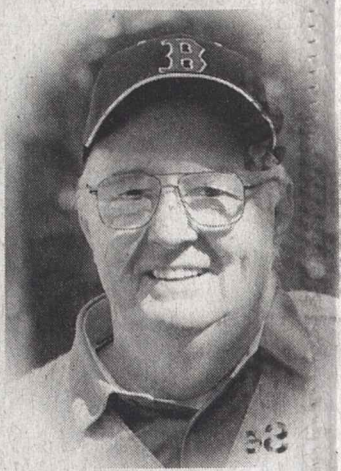

Joseph attended St. Joseph's Preparatory School and went on to further his education at Northeastern University where he earned his degree in Electrical Engineering.

Joseph married the "love of his life," Eleanor G. (Frisona) Pelletier, on October 23, 1954; the couple shared almost 60 years of marriage and made countless memories for generations to come. Joseph and Eleanor moved to Wilmington in 1959 where they raised their large and loving family. Joe and Eleanor loved to travel, and in recent years, they spent their winters in Largo, Florida. There they made many friends, and Joe became a member of "The Headless Hoarsemen," a local senior choral group.

Joseph was a man of great faith; he was an active communicant of St. Dorothy's Church for many years and a talented vocalist in their choir.

Joe began his career as a self-taught TV repairman, and through practical experience and education eventually became a senior Electrical Engineer for AVCO/Textron Industries in Wilmington. He was a dedicated employee and was always willing to help his colleagues. He remained friends and golf buddies with many of his co-workers throughout his retirement years.

In his spare time, Joe was an excellent softball player, and became an avid golfer. He enthusiastically followed Boston sports teams, especially the Red Sox and the Patriots. He also greatly enjoyed watching golf tournaments - a good time to nap.

Joseph was known to be a "Mr. Fix It." He took pride in the fact that he could fix or build almost anything. Joe also served as assistant groundskeeper support for his wife Eleanor's many vegetable and flower gardens throughout their years.

Joseph will be fondly remembered as a devoted and loving family man and a true friend to many. He will be sorely missed by all who knew and loved him.

Joseph was the beloved husband of Eleanor G. (Frisona) Pelletier, devoted father of Lisa Marie Ferguson & her husband Gary of Ithaca, NY, Michael J. Pelletier of Largo, FL, Nora J. Zinan & her husband Mark of Sunderland, MA, Thomas C. Pelletier & his wife Barbara Fox of Patchogue, NY, Susan Pelletier of Lexington, MA, Daniel L. Pelletier & his wife Karin of Croton, NY, Joseph C. Pelletier, III & his wife Beth of Randolph, VT, John C. Pelletier & his wife Yunyun of Boulder, CO and James R. Pelletier & his wife Paige of Seneca, SC. He was a loving grandfather of 22 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren, and a dear brother of Anne Deyer and M. Dorothy Pelletier, both of Woburn and the late Roger A. Pelletier. Joe is also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Saturday, September 13th at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in the St. Dorothy's Church, 19 Main Street, (Rte. 38), Wilmington at 10:00 a.m. Interment with Military Honors to follow in Fox Hill Cemetery, Billerica. Visiting hours will be held at the funeral home on Friday, September 12th from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. Memorial donations in Joseph's name may be made to the American Heart Association, P.O. Box 417005, Boston, MA 02241.

Keri-Ann Roberto

Wilmington native; studied nursing at UMass

WILMINGTON - Keri-Ann Roberto of Wilmington passed away as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident on September 1, 2014. She was 33.

The cherished daughter of John J. and Joann (Fama) Roberto both of Wilmington, Keri-Ann was raised in Wilmington and graduated from Shawsheen Regional Technical High School where she concentrated in Nursing. She went on to study in the dental program at U Mass Lowell.

Keri-Ann was a fun loving happy person. She was devoted to her family, loved to care for others and had a special bond with her grandmother. She enjoyed good times with her friends, loved going to the movies, spending time with her large extended family and even reached out to take-in a rescue dog.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her loving brother John A. Roberto, also of Wilmington and her loving grandmother, Benedetta Fama. Keri-Ann also leaves many loving and dear aunts, uncles and cousins. She is predeceased by her grandfather, Anthony Fama, and paternal grandparents Angelo and Mildred Roberto.

Red Cross Blood Drive Saturday in Wilmington

WILMINGTON - On Saturday, September 13, 9AM - 2PM, residents of Tewksbury and Wilmington are invited to visit the Wilmington Congregational Church, 220 Middlesex Ave.

"The need is real and all types of blood are needed now," said Peter James, an organizer of the drive. "You will be doing a good deed for someone you won't even know. You will be someone's hero and it will feel great."

"Be that person who helps out. If you have received call after call from the Red Cross it is not because they want to bother you. Think about it. They are trying to save lives also. Blood has a short shelf life," said James.

Please take a minute, and make an appointment. When the Red Cross staffs and the blood drives they are planning on the number of people who said they would give. Appointments are honored first, though walk-ins will be worked in.

Call for an appointment 1-800-Red Cross (1-800-733-2767).

Severe weather, terrorism, public health crises: Are you Prepared?

September is National Preparedness Month

By SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

If a catastrophic event took place tomorrow, could you be self-reliant for several days? Could you make do without electricity, running water or access to local services?

While Tewksbury and Wilmington residents proved to be resourceful for five weeks without their local Market Basket, greater disasters may not leave us other options.

Governor Deval Patrick has announced that September is 'Emergency Preparedness Month' in the Commonwealth. This is in conjunction with a nationwide effort urging all Americans to prepare for emergencies - both manmade and natural - at work, school, and at home.

The Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) - which ensures the state can respond to and recover from emergencies - is promoting public awareness this month by focusing on four important steps: be informed, develop a plan, build a kit, and get involved.

1. Keep Informed

From severe weather to terrorism, emergencies and disasters can happen at any time. Being informed means preparing for an emergency in advance, as well as knowing how to stay safe during and after emergencies.

Massachusetts residents should sign up for Massachusetts Alerts, a free downloadable app used by MEMA to send urgent information to your Android or iPhone: www.ping4.com

MEMA recommends Tewksbury and Wilmington residents also sign up for their local emergency alert programs to ensure they receive critical, town-specific information. Local emergency alerts may be received via email, landline and cell phones.

Wilmington residents are encouraged to sign up for the Emergency Alert Program by visiting www.town.wilmington.ma.us, the town police website www.wpd.org, visiting the Wilmington Memorial Library, or calling Deputy Police Chief Robert Richter at 978-658-7988 x216.

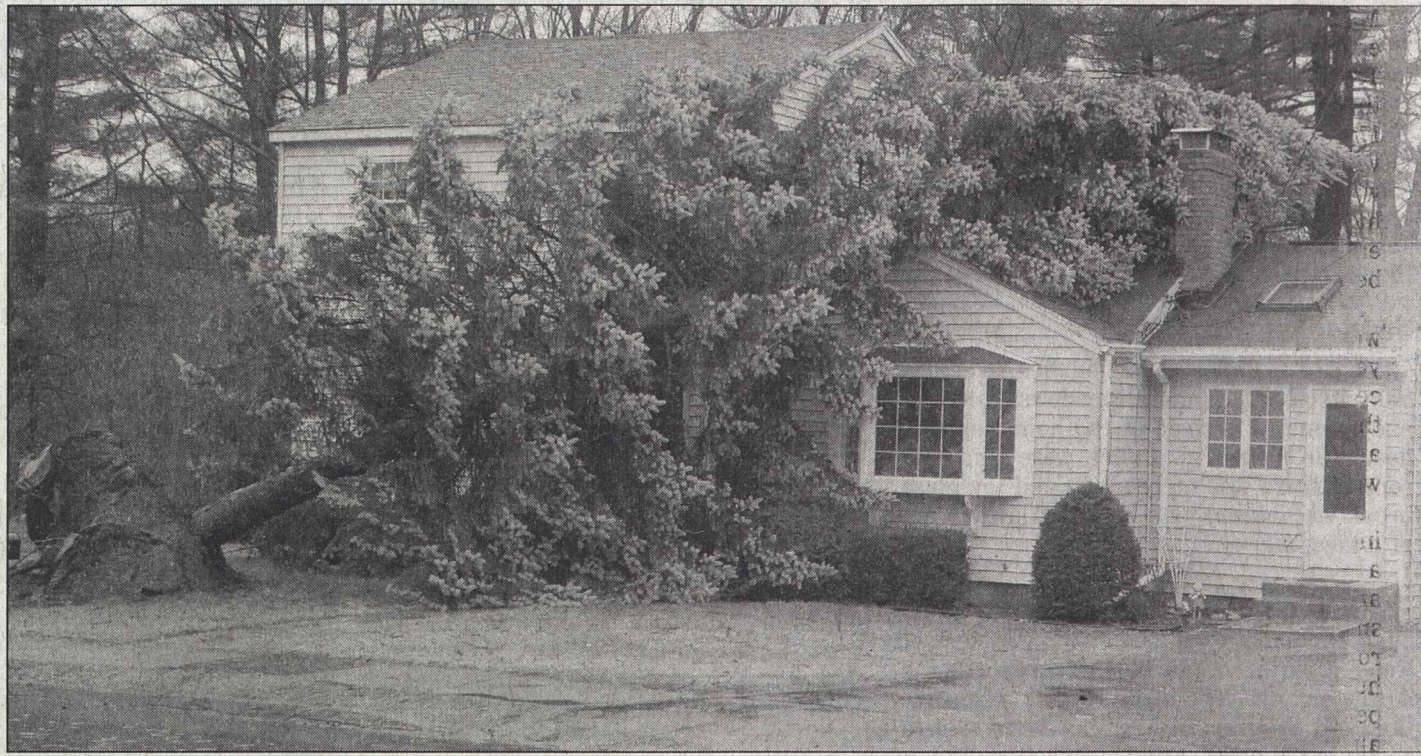

Tewksbury uses CodeRED, a high-speed notification system used by the Tewksbury Police Department. The system only works if your contact information is correct. Cell phones and unlisted numbers may not be in the system, so be sure to log on www.tewksbury.net and follow the link to the CodeRED Community Notification Enrollment page or call 978-851-73736 x211.

The Public Safety page on www.mass.gov discusses various situations that could take place in Massachusetts and how the public should respond to them.

2. Develop a Plan

It is important to create a family communication plan in the event you are separated during an emergency.

Sometimes there are disruptions to cell service or email during emergencies, so you should discuss with your family, in advance, how you will communicate in these situations.

that came down in a severe storm. The National Weather Service reported wind gusts in the 60+ MPH range which may have contributed to the tree fall.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has a downloadable family emergency plan to personalize for all family members. Children should keep a copy with their belongings at all times.

Select a local and out-of-state emergency contact for family members to reach in the event you cannot communicate directly with each other.

Be sure to label your emergency contacts in your cell phone. Should you be involved in an accident, emergency personnel can use your contacts to reach someone on your behalf. You can use the abbreviation ICE (In Case of Emergency).

Agree on a meeting location in case of evacuation. Whether you have a house fire and meet in front of a tree across the street, or your family leaves together in the same vehicle, know the route you'll take and destination. Notify friends and family of your plans in advance.

The Commonwealth's primary call center during emergencies, 2-1-1, offers shelter locations and other resources. Call 2-1-1 for non-emergency assistance.

American Red Cross has a free "Safe and Well" service to register yourself as safe or search for loved ones after an emergency. www.safeandwell.org or 1-800-RED-CROSS.

3. Build a "Go Bag"

Each family member should make a list of key personal items they must have in the event of an emergency and possible evacuation. Referred to as "Go Bags" or "Go Kits" these should be ready to grab at a moment's notice, with supplies for at least three days: water, food, clothing, medication, household essentials, and other necessities.

It is important to examine, in advance, your family's specific requirements, including children and seniors with special needs such as medications, assistive devices, and baby supplies.

Ready.gov has information on how to build and maintain a Go Bag or Go Kit for emergency use. Be sure to review storage information for home, work and your vehicle. www.ready.gov/kit

Make a list for pets, including food water and any medication they may need. Be sure their ID tags and vaccinations are up to date. If they are micro chipped, be sure that both you and your veterinarian's office has the information on file.

Know the emergency plans for work, daycare, school, and sports events and review preparedness tips before, during, and after power outages, severe weather, terrorism and more at: www.mass.gov/mema/ready,

4. Get involved.

Volunteerism through the Citizen Corps Program is a great way to help the community and overloaded medical professionals during emergencies. The Greater River Valley Medical Reserve Corps (GRV MRC), based out of Andover, operates in both emergency and non-emergency situations, assisting with public health clinics, first aid stations at community events, public health crises and disasters.

Non-medical volunteers support patient registration, patient or material transport, and other important needs during a disaster. During the H1N1 Flu crisis in 2009, and again in 2010, Massachusetts was one of the best immunized states in the country because of the MRC.

New virus has parents worried sick

Doctors urge parents to track symptoms

(September, 2014) Back in the classroom, kids should be focusing on reading, writing and arithmetic, but a virus making the national rounds has children falling ill and parents worried sick. Doctors with American Family Care and AFC/Doctors Express are urging parents to be on the lookout for symptoms of this respiratory enterovirus known as EV-D68 sweeping the nation.

The virus symptoms are sneaky -- they mimic severe colds, allergies and asthma -- and are hitting asthmatics especially hard. With the upcoming fall season bringing the common cold and allergies to the forefront, AFC/DRX doctors have created a Symptom Tracker that parents can use to determine whether their children have just caught a cold or if it's something more severe.

SYMPTOM TRACKER

EV-D68 Virus

Runny nose
Sneezing
Coughing
Wheezing
Fever
Body & muscle aches

Cold

Runny nose
sneezing
Coughing
Sore throat

Allergies

Runny nose
sneezing
itchy, watery eyes

allergies, but just seem a little bit worse. Wheezing is also a key symptom that shouldn't be overlooked in the face of this virus."

Wheeze Watch

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, wheezing is the biggest indicator that children are suffering from the EV-D68 virus. Children under the age of 5 and those with asthma are at high risk for this particular virus. Children with asthma are particularly vulnerable, since the virus is attacking their already-compromised respiratory systems.

Healthy Hands

Staying healthy is all about clean hands and awareness, according to local doctors and the CDC.

- Wash hands with warm water and soap
- Cover your nose and mouth if you cough or sneeze
- Wipe down communal surfaces with antibacterial wipes
- Avoid those that are sick

Asthma Awareness

Since children with asthma are having a hard time with the EV-D68 virus, parents should be aware of viral symptoms, as well as signs of an asthma attack. Doctors recommend that parents go over an asthma action plan with their children, including where inhalers are located, when to seek help and emergency contact information.

Enjoy a night out at Al Fresca Ristorante and support Alzheimer's research

TEWKSBURY - An estimated 5.2 million Americans have Alzheimer's disease in 2014, including approximately 200,000 individuals younger than age 65 who have younger-onset Alzheimer's. Support Alzheimer's research with a great night out Monday, Sept. 15 at Al Fresca Ristorante.

American seniors living with Alzheimer's are women. Of the 5 million people age 65 and older with Alzheimer's in the United States, 3.2 million are women and 1.8 million are men.

Alzheimer's is the sixth leading cause of death in America, and kills more than prostate cancer and breast cancer combined.

Join your friends and neighbors Al Fresca Ristorante, at 1768 Main St., Tewksbury, from 5 to 9 PM on Monday, September 15, for free appetizers and a cash bar. Co-sponsored by several local women together with Al Fresca, donations to the Alzheimer's Association of MA and NH as well as raffles and a 50/50 will raise funds.

Tewksbury Walk for Education

Sunday, Oct. 5

TEWKSBURY - The Dewing and North Street Schools Walk for Education will be held on Sunday, October 5, 2014 at the Tewksbury Memorial High School track. Come walk with your child and raise money for enrichment programs in our schools. The walk runs from 10am-2pm and students may walk at any point during that time. Registration fees apply. The Walk for Education is a family fun and fitness activity, whether you walk or just volunteer your time. Donated prizes are awarded to students in each grade who walk the most laps and water is available for all walkers. Fun activities during the event include face painting, music, demonstrations and the chance to see your teachers while you walk! For more information on being a walker or to donate to the event, contact Leah Abraham, Coordinator, a leahabraham@gmail.com

OBITUARY

Eldora A. True

Avid Red Sox fan; scrabble player, Nurse

IPSWICH - Eldora A. (Hovey) True, age 90, of Ipswich, formerly of Wilmington and Maine, passed away peacefully surrounded by her loving family on September 9, 2014 at the Masconomet Healthcare Center in Topsfield, MA.

Eldora was born on September 8, 1924 in Houlton, ME; she was the cherished daughter of the late William A. and Dorris (Grant) Hovey. As a young girl, Eldora moved from Maine with her family and settled in Wilmington. She was educated in Wilmington and graduated from Wilmington High School.

Eldora worked as an assembler for Raytheon in Waltham for many years. She was a dedicated worker, who made many friends at her job. Eldora met her husband, the late William A. True, while working at Raytheon. Eldora and Bill married in 1966 and spent many wonderful years together before his passing in 2008.

Eldora decided at the age of 40 that she wanted to become a Nurse. She attended nursing school at the Tewksbury State Hospital and graduated with her nursing certificate.

Eldora's life was centered on her family; especially her only child, Tom. She was the matriarch of her family; the glue that kept everyone together. Eldora was always very proud of her family and loved to share stories of their accomplishments. Eldora was happiest when spending time with her son, her grandchildren or with her niece whenever she had the chance. She loved to host family gatherings and holidays; she had a beautiful home and was quite the homemaker, who made anyone visiting feel welcome.

Eldora was an AVID Red Sox fan. She was the type of fan who loved to watch the Red Sox play whether they were winning or not; she just was happiest while watching a game. Eldora also loved to do crosswords and was an exceptional scrabble player. She could beat anyone who was brave enough to challenge her.

Eldora will be remembered as a great mother; she was a mother figure to anyone who needed her. She was loyal, loving and very accepting of everyone. Eldora was a great friend to many and will be truly missed by those who knew and loved her.

Eldora was the beloved wife of the late William A. True, devoted mother of Thomas Grant and his wife Lisa of Orlando, FL, loving "Grammy" of Kimberly Jaine Grant, Lauren Meredith Grant, Jordan Brannon Grant and Jonathan Thomas Grant, step-mother of William A. True, Jr., Theodore True, Lyndon True and Faye (True) Stacey, cherished daughter of the late William A. and Dorris (Grant) Hovey, dear sister of the late Elwin Hovey, Gene Hovey, Capitola McCabe and Ruth Yentile. Eldora is also survived by many loving nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Saturday, September 13th for Visitation from 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. immediately followed by a Funeral Service at 1:00 p.m. Interment Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Memorial donations in Eldora's memory may be made to St. Jude Children's Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105 or to the Boston Children's Hospital, 300 Longwood Ave, Boston, MA 02115.

Tewksbury resident named new Executive Director for Salter HealthCare

Salter HealthCare is pleased to announce that Anne Pelrine, N.H.A., L.S.W., of Tewksbury, MA and a former long-time Reading, MA resident, has joined Winchester Nursing and Rehabilitation Center as the new Executive Director.

Owned and operated by Salter HealthCare since 1976, Winchester Rehabilitation and Nursing Center is a 121-bed skilled center located at 223 Swanton Street in Winchester.

As Executive Director, Pelrine is responsible for overseeing and directing the day-to-day operations at the Winchester Center.

With almost 25 years' experience in the health care industry, Pelrine's background includes serving as Administrator at three Boston-area nursing and rehabilitation centers over the last 14 years.

Prior to that, she worked as the Director of Admissions and Marketing for several Massachusetts-based nursing and rehabilitation centers and as a Community Resource Specialist for Lahey Clinic Medical Center. Pelrine received her B.A. degree in Social Work from Bridgewater State College in Bridgewater, MA and went on to attain her L.S.W. In December 1999, she received her Nursing Home Administrator license while working as an Administrator in Training at a senior care center in Weston, MA.

Winchester Rehabilitation and Nursing Center offers short-term care, traditional nursing care, respite and hospice care. Licensed physical, occupational, speech and respiratory therapists provide daily rehabilitative services in a state-of-the-art Rehabilitation Suite.

Founded in 1956, Salter HealthCare is a family owned and operated health care provider with a reputation for excellence in the health care community. With three rehabilitation and skilled nursing centers in Winchester and Woburn, Salter offers specialized rehabilitation programs, short-term care, subacute care, long-term care, skilled nursing, and hospice care, as well as respite services. Sarah Marie McMahon wed Jonathan Bates Gurry on June 21st 2014 in a ceremony on Old Silver Beach officiated by The Reverend Lucinda Graham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul and Sheila McMahon of Wilmington.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher and Sarah Gurry of Wells, ME.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Sarah is a graduate of Austin Preparatory School, Endicott College and Nichols College. She is the Head Athletic Trainer at the Dexter Southfield School.

Jon is a Merchandiser for Amoskeg Beverages and is a graduate of Avon Old Farms School and Endicott College.

The Maid of Honor was Marybeth McMahon of Wilmington.

Bridesmaids were Laura Murphy of Boxborough, MA, Ashley Hartwell of Attleboro, MA, Yurie Sekigami of Deer Park, IL, Erin Koch of Waitsfield, VT and Laura Gurry of Brookline, MA.

Lila Gurry of Brookline, MA served as the Flower Girl. Ring Bearers were Robby and Oliver Koch of Waitsfield, VT.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Greg DelGiudice.

Chas Gurry of Somerville, MA was the Best Man. Groomsmen were Adam Gurry of Brookline, MA, Bobby Farnham of North Andover, MA, Michael McMahon of Wilmington, and Dani Koch of Waitsfield, VT.

Serving as Usher was Mathew Pavilonis.

The reception was held at the Sea Crest Beach Hotel where Sean Degan of Cape Tunes provided the entertainment.

A destination wedding trip was planned to Aruba, however, the groom misplaced his passport the day before their trip and the happy couple enjoyed a trip to Disneyworld instead!

The newlyweds now reside on Cedar Street in Wilmington.

Showtunes performed at Broadway Revue

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Choral and Theatre Support Group (C.A.T.S.) is hosting a BROADWAY REVUE fundraiser Sunday, September 21st at 3pm at the Wilmington United Methodist Church.

The event will feature favorite Broadway tunes performed by Wilmington High School choral and theatre students.

Tickets are only $10.00 and the price includes refreshments.

For tickets, call 978-604-4372. Purchase your tickets now - this event may sell out!

100 percent of the proceeds benefit the Wilmington High School Choral and Theatre Support (WHS CATS) scholarship fund, supplemental production equipment, and materials funds.

Old Sturbridge Village to host exhibition this weekend

Old Sturbridge Village celebrates the coming of fall with an old-fashioned Agricultural Exhibition highlighting heirloom vegetables and historical farming techniques Saturday and Sunday Sept. 13-14.

Visitors can try their hands at plowing behind the Village oxen, learn to winnow and thresh grain, and shell corn the old-fashioned way all weekend long. Guests can also meet the Village's heritage breed farm animals and see the ox-powered Cider Mill in action.

Dairy demonstrations will include cow-milking, butter churning, cheese-making, and ice cream making. Submissions of home-grown vegetables will be on display as part of a Home Gardening Exhibit. Details: www.osv.org; 800-SEE-1830.

The Village invites home gardeners to bring the best of their gardens to the Agricultural Fair and submit over 50 varieties of heirloom vegetables, herbs, and flowers to be judged using 19th century criteria.

Visitor-grown entries will be exhibited for the weekend in addition to a display of the variety of heirloom vegetables grown at Old Sturbridge Village. On Sunday, Village gardeners and home gardeners will share tips and tricks for successfully cultivating heirloom vegetables at home and discuss the unique challenges each garden season brings. For more information: www.osv.org.

Old Sturbridge Village celebrates New England life in the 1830s and is one of the largest living history museums in the country. The museum is open daily 9:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. seven days a week.

OSV offers free parking and a free return visit within 10 days. Admission: $24; seniors $22; children 3-17, $8; children 2 and under, free. For information: www.osv.org or call 800-SEE-1830.

After nearly five years, the Epilepsy Foundation New England Donation Center (EFNEDC) has gone from inception to the second largest donation center of its kind in the national Savers network.

Epilepsy Foundation 335 Main St., Wilmington 781-378-2313

scholarships, job coaching research and the only camp for children suffering from epilepsy in New England. Camp Wee-Kan-Too.

EFNEDC is currently operating seven Attended Donation Sites (ADS), up from five a year ago, between Pelham, NH and Harwich on Cape Cod. Our donation sites are open seven days a week for you to drop off gently used clothing, bedding, books, toys and small appliances and to receive a tax-deductible receipt. In addition, you can take advantage of our convenient online scheduling.

The Epilepsy Foundation New England Donation Center needs your help! Support our efforts by sponsoring a clothing donation bin, hosting a clothing drive at your place of business or by calling 888-322-3209 to schedule a free home pickup, or contact our Marketing Director at john@donatnewengland.org.

Watch for our bright green trucks in your neighborhood.

The Donation Center is aggressively increasing its awareness to the general public. Some of the methods used are mailing out over 45,000 post cards throughout New England every day, targeted advertising programs, attending trade shows, partnering with businesses and schools, and more.

One hundred percent of the Donation Centers proceeds go directly to the Epilepsy Foundation. The proceeds give over 140,000 New England families access to no-cost programs and services. These services include continuing education,

Is natural gas sustainable?

gas bubble," he said.

That's why it isn't good to change infrastructure to fit natural gas, Eklof said.

One model, the direction in which the market could head, Eklof said, has natural gas at about seventy-three percent of all power sources, with hydro at about four percent and wind and solar at about twenty-three percent.

Low power diversity would increase US power generation costs by $93 billion per year, he said. It would also reduce household disposable income by $2,100.

Eklof said that the people who oppose the project consist of economists and researchers who believe natural gas is a bubble, groups who are opposed to fossil fuels, groups opposed to fracking, and groups who are worried about damage to rural New England.

He said that gas producers could be threatened by the "accelerated development of renewables, efficiencies." They have a "vested interest in portraying shale gas as a cheap, long-term reliable supply of cleaner energy and a potential contributor to U.S. energy independence."

Brayton Point and Vermont Yankee, both of which are power plants, recently announced that they'd close, he said, and Eklof suggested that it's because of the move toward natural gas.

Eklof also noted that FERC, or the Federal Regulatory Energy Commission, "has a bias toward infrastructure projects and cooperation with industry proposals."

He said that the Coalition should thus focus on "things [they] can impact," pick their targets, and "make the best of the few shots [they'll] get."

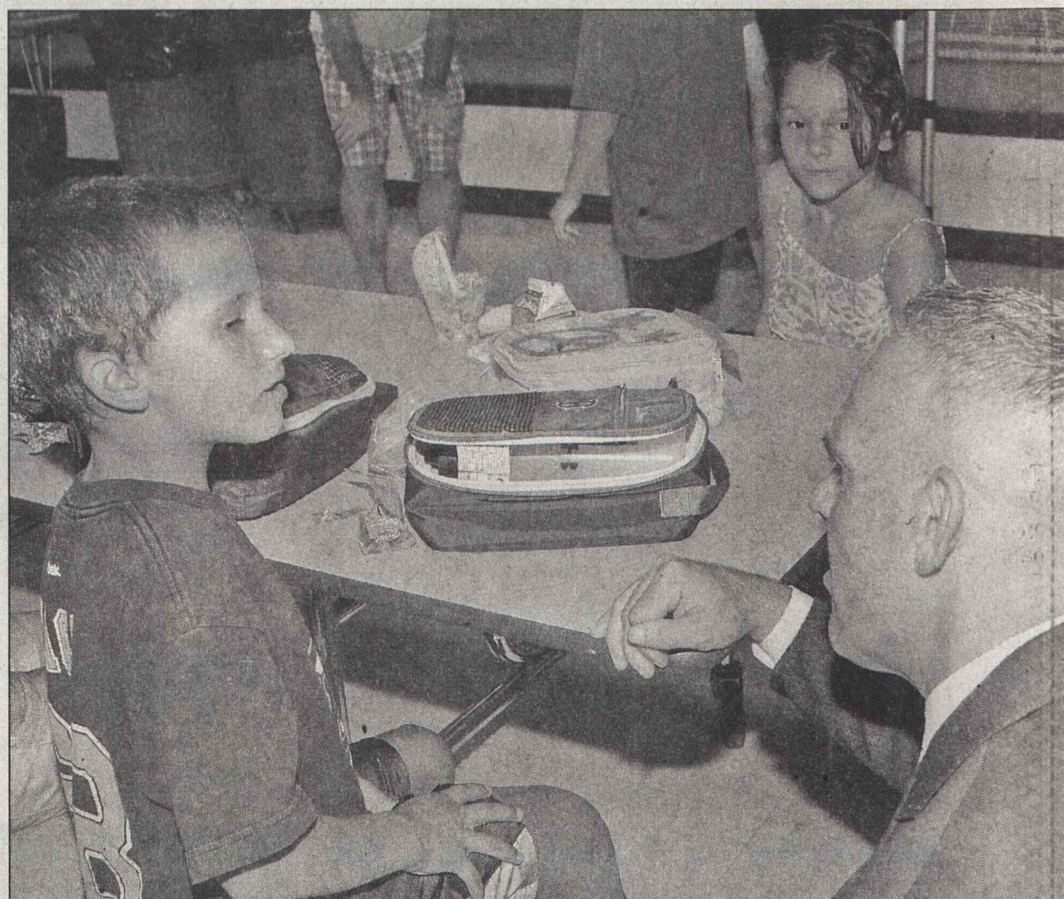

They should raise concerns "focused specifically on the project and its implications," and they should appeal to NESCOE, or the New England States Committee on Electricity, state governments, congressional representatives, and FERC. They should identify risks associated with the project's approval.

Eklof said the real issue is seasonal peaks. He suggested that the Coalition should look toward Spectra Energy's project, which is currently under study. That project could increase "capacity by another 1.0 billion cubic feet per day (bcfd) in tranches along their existing rights of way." According to the presentation, "this greater volume would require long-term power contracts" managed through Independent System Operator (ISO) New England.

He said there a risk that "under-utilized capacity generally falls on capacity contract holders, but [the] modular approach to the 1.0 bcfd added capacity minimizes this risk."

Eklof put much of this information in a white paper, which he sent to the Boston Globe and to the Groton Line blog, in addition to the Massachusetts Department of Energy and to various opposition groups.

Hundreds of kids participate in fundraising event

Youth Soccer Field Day a major hit

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

BrendanMFoley@outlook.com

WILMINGTON- Hundreds of players, parents and fans flocked to the Shawsheen Fields to celebrate the third annual Wilmington Youth Soccer Field Day, the program's only fundraiser for the upcoming year.

Between dunk tanks, moon bounces, face painting and a three-on-three soccer tournament, Sunday's gathering offered something for everyone to come and enjoy.

"One of the things that we try and foster here is a spirit of community," said league president John Fitzler. "And this day gives kids a chance to see their friends down here without having to play in a game."

While the younger kids flocked to the moon bounces and face-painting tent, still others piled into the line for the dunk tank. Participants were encouraged to kick a soccer ball at the target, while a revolving panel of victims (including Fitzler) were dumped into the water again and again to endless applause.

Meanwhile, the three-on-three soccer tournament brought dozens of Wilmington players down to the field, while also drawing numerous out of town teams for the first time in Field Day's history. The tournament allowed participants ranging from U8 to U12 teams.

"We get good showings from other towns," Fitzler said. "The kids enjoy it because it brings in new faces and makes the tournament seem a little more competitive."

Teams hit the field with names like "Sassy Soccer Stars", "The Blue Snow Cones", "The Annihilators", and "The Lightning Thieves".

The players were festooned in a wide array of colorful costumes, with home-made and decorated jerseys, face paint, glitter, and hair dyed and mohawked into game mode. Games lasted 12 minutes and occupied half of a field, forcing the players to move much quicker and with a greater need for control than they might otherwise have.

Michael Monteforte was at the field to coach his son Mike's U10 team "The Annihilators" and watch his daughter, Gabriella, in her U12 tournament. While it was the Monteforte's first time attending, the event made an immediate impression on the family.

"I think the kids really love the speed of the tournament and how fast it goes with the quick change of shifts and the small field," Michael said. "It gave them an opportunity to run around a lot and get a lot of shots on net."

Even beyond the tournament, Monteforte was almost overwhelmed with enthusiasm for the Field Day experience.

"We didn't participate in field day last year but we will from now on," he said. "It's a great thing for the league. It gives the kids a chance to play with their friends and with other teams, and it's just a great thing all around."

Both organizers and participants alike continued to return to the idea of Field Day as a community unifier, an event to bring people together for low-stress fun and excitement. It was this same atmosphere which drew Michael Matthews and his U12 team from Chelmsford to participate in the tournament.

"We're just enjoying the game without worrying about the usual stresses that go into playing a game," Matthews said.

Fitzler and the other members of the Board have found that it is this spirit of community that has allowed Field Day to grow far beyond their initial idea for a simple fundraiser to keep costs down for Youth Soccer. "I love the sense of community," Fitzler said. "Soccer used to be very team focused, but we're making it more and more about one big community together in this game."

Board Registrar Melissa Doherty agreed, saying, "I like the community feel. People are wandering around, seeing all the different things. It's a great family affair, a great family event."

If the Board is interested in emphasizing soccer as a community, not simply as a team-based competition, they need only look at some of the younger volunteers who arrived for Field Day to see how successful they have already been. Teenagers no longer involved with youth soccer travelled down to the Shawsheen to make sure that the day ran smoothly and smiles stayed in place. "We wanted to help the little kids get involved and learn how to play a little bit more," said Wilmington High School freshman Jason Spizuoco. "It seems like it is a lot of fun for the little kids to play today."

"It's fun because you can hang out with your friends, and the kids all seem to be having a really good time," said Daria Bakhtiari, who now plays for Central Catholic.

With Field Day over, the program can now turn its gaze towards the rest of the season and making sure that the same energy and spirit does not flag over the course of the fall.

"Hopefully we can make it enjoyable for the kids," said Fitzler. "That's the drive."

WHS Football Preview

Wildcats hoping to rebound

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

As Wilmington High Football coach Mike Barry enters his seventh season at the helm of the Wildcats, he has seen both great seasons and some not so great ones as well, with last season's 3-8 (2-3 Middlesex Freedom) campaign certainly falling into the latter category.

As such, he knows better than to predict how many wins his team will have, or to predict where his team will finish in the well balanced Middlesex Freedom Division, instead preferring to have the Wildcats focus on the basics as they work their way through the season.

"I just want our guys to play hard every game and play mistake free football. I want us to hustle from the beginning of the play all the way to the whistle and see where the chips fall," Barry said. "I am really just worried about the day to day things and getting better every day. I also want to make sure the kids all have the right attitude, and so far the kids are doing a great job with that."

Barry has good reason to for his concern about his team making critical mistakes, as several times during the first half of last season it seemed to be one or two critical mistakes that cost them in close losses to the Middlesex League powerhouses Melrose (17-3) and Wakefield (19-6).

After a 3-4 start to the season, including those close losses, things did not go as well for the Wildcats the rest of the way, in the playoffs and in their annual Thanksgiving Day clash with Tewksbury.

In the Division 3 Northeast quarterfinals against Marblehead, the Wildcats actually played pretty well before falling by a score of 34-7, playing the number two seed tough before the game got away from them late. But in their next two losses against fellow eliminated teams Danvers (32-7) and a 2-7 Somerville team (30-19) the Wildcats did not look nearly as sharp.

"Overall I was proud of the way the team played last season, but we just made too many mistakes and this year we are working hard to eliminate those," Barry said. "I was not happy with the way we played in those two non-playoff games, not so much because we lost, but because of the way we played."

"But our focus is not on those games as we are getting ready for the season. Instead we are focusing on the games where we played our best and trying to build on that."

As the Wildcats look to build on some of the positive experiences from last season, they will be doing so without the services of two-year starting quarterback James O'Regan, who transferred to Buckingham, Browne & Nichols.

But the team was left in good hands at the quarterback position, with senior Mike Carracinno (6'0, 175), a former running back, taking over under center. Much like O'Regan, Carracinno will be a dual threat for the opposition to deal with, as he is just as much a threat to tuck it and run as he is to find the open receiver.

"Mike is doing a great job running the offense," Barry said. "We have seen the growth of what he can do. He is taking charge of the huddle and managing the offense. You can see that his confidence has grown gradually since the first day of practice."

"He is a natural athlete. When we decided to move him there that is what we saw, a kid who can throw and also has the ability to run it if he has to. The most impressive thing about him is that the reason he has improved is all because of the hard work he has put in. He wants to have a good year and he has put in the work so that he can."

When Carracinno isn't holding the ball himself, he will be handing off to slew of talented running backs led by senior Matt Penney (5'10, 185), along with fellow senior Jomikeson-Beray (5'8, 180), junior Matt Woods (6'0, 185) and sophomore Sam Jennings (5'10, 185).

"Matt (Penney) is a two and a half year starter for us after coming in as a sophomore. He is a typical Wilmington kid. He is just a tough, hard nosed kid who can find the end zone," Barry said. "Beray came on toward the end of last season and we are looking for him to pick up where he left off. He is another kid who has shown a great work ethic and shown a lot of improvement, as has Matt (Woods), who we are also expecting to have a fine year."

"And Sam has been pushing the other kids. He could see some playing time this year even as a sophomore."

Last year, Penney rushed for 439 yards on 100 carries and scored two touchdowns, and Beray had 188 yards on 49 carries.

When the Wildcats put the ball in the air, senior wide receivers Ryan Colangelo (5'8, 170) and Peter Daly (6'0, 195), along with tight ends Joe Visoli and Travis Howard will be his primary targets.

"Ryan is a little shifty kid. He runs nice routes and has made some nice catches for us," Barry said. "The other kids have been doing a great job in practice too. They have all looked good."

Penney also caught nine passes out of the backfield last year for 74 yards.

Of course, no team will be able to run or pass without a strong presence upfront and the Wildcats appear to be strong in that area with several players expected to contribute on the offensive line.

The line will be led by senior captains Austin Ferreira (5'10, 200) and Dylan Masiello (5'10, 190) along with fellow senior Mike Amato (5'11, 190) at guards along with seniors James Hill (6'5, 285), Ryan Flood (6'1, 200) and Nick Raffi (5'11, 250) at tackles and senior Nick Cimaglia at center.

Hill is a tremendously talented lineman, who has been attracting a lot of interest from colleges thus far.

Defensively the Wildcats will be looking to their captains, Ferreira and Masiello to lead the way at the linebacker spots.

"They complement each other really well," Barry said. "(Ferreira) is more of a guy who takes on the blocks and plugs the hole, while (Masiello) has a real nose for the football and is an instinct player. He's got a knack for avoiding the blocker and making the tackle."

Junior Andy Lesperance along with Peter Daly, Rob Fullerton and Matt Penney will also see time at linebacker.

The Wildcats will also have a solid core of defensive tackles led by Hill, Raffi, Murray, Amato, Flood and junior Lou Laffarello (5'10, 190).

"It is a talented group and I would like to see them keep rotating in throughout the year, but the kids are competitive, so we are seeing some healthy competition for jobs," Barry said. "Somebody could step up and earn more playing time."

It is a similar situation at defensive back where Carracinno, Colangelo, Jennings, Woods, Pat Finn and Chris Penny.

"There is a lot of competition there right now and it is the same type of thing where we are looking to see who will step up and earn more playing time," Barry said.

The Wildcats will be led on and off the field by their captains Ferreira and Masiello, and just as they complement each other well at the linebacker spot, Barry feels they complement each other very well as captains as well.

"They have been great leaders so far," Barry said. "They are both positive kids who will encourage their teammates. Austin is a little more of the type who will get on a kid if he is dogging it or something like that, and the kids understand why he is doing it and they respond to it."

While last season certainly did not go the way the Wildcats would have liked, and the Middlesex Freedom Division remains very competitive, Barry is confident his team can hold their own against the best the league has to offer.

"Melrose won the league last year so you until someone beats them they are the champs, but all of the teams are evenly matched," Barry said. "A lot of the other coaches have told me the same thing. We are in a good, competitive league, and we just hope that some of those close games that we lost last season go our way this year."

Wilmington opens its season this Saturday afternoon at Winchester beginning at 2:30 and will stay on the road for the following two games with stops at Arlington Catholic and Burlington before coming home on October 3 to face Stoneham. Burlington is coached by Wilmington resident Shawn McGuire and Stoneham is coached by former WHS Coach Bob Almeida.

Ferreira, a physical presence

Brace yourselves for sudden impact

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

If you are an opponent of the Wilmington High Football team and you see No. 50 in blue bearing down on you, you had better brace for impact. And you had also better realize that the player wearing that No. 50 uniform, senior linebacker and captain Austin Ferreira, is going to enjoy the impact a lot more than you are.

Ferreira, a linebacker and offensive guard for the Wildcats, is as old school a football player as you will find. He is a player who thrives on the physical part of the game, truly enjoying making contact with an opponent whether it is an onrushing defensive lineman, an offensive lineman or an opposing ball carrier.

His style of play is a point of pride for Ferreira.

"I think my biggest strength is just being on the field," Ferreira said. "I know after games last year other teams would talk about saying that they did not want to play against that No. 50 again because he was tough, he was nasty. So I think just my appearance in the middle of the field is my biggest asset for the team."

Wilmington coach Mike Barry knows what he has in his senior captain, and he is looking forward to what he will bring to the team this season.

"He brings a spark to the team both offensively and defensively," Barry said. "Part of the reason for that is that he has had to work hard for everything he has gotten. He has not been given anything."

That includes being named a co-captain for this year's team, something that Barry says Ferreira had to earn heading into the season.

"Even his position as captain was like that," Barry said. "He earned that. He worked hard in the off season and when a kid puts in work like that the other kids notice and respect that. When he talks to the kids they know it is not just words. There are actions behind his words."

Still though, Ferreira's words are often worth listening to. For example, he sums up his toughness as a player best in describing why, although he loves both of his positions, he prefers playing defense to offense.

"If I had to pick one, I would definitely pick defense," Ferreira said. "I feel like I have more control on defenses. It's just the part of the game I love. Some people like to run. Some like to block. I like to hit. When I see a different colored jersey, I just want to hit it."

Perhaps his love for hitting is because of, or maybe in spite of, his experience as a young player with the Wildcats when he was schooled in the ways of physical play by Wilmington stars like John Parsons and Killian Smith.

"I remember getting called up my freshman year when those guys were seniors and I was getting pounded on every day," Ferreira laughed. "I was getting picked up and dropped on my back on every play. But four years later it was definitely worth it, and hitting is my favorite part of the game."

The Wildcats will be looking for Ferreira to do plenty of hitting this season, on both offense and defense if they are going to rebound from last season's disappointing 3-8 record. Ferreira feels he is ready for the challenge, as are the rest of his teammates, at least if attitude counts for anything.

"You definitely cannot have a successful football team without a positive attitude," Ferreira said. "This team has a great attitude and it did not just start now when we are about to start the season. This was something that started after Thanksgiving last year when we all committed to trying to win every game this season. It carried over for the entire off-season whether we were in the gym or the weight room or whatever and it continues now."

If the Wildcats are going to be successful this season, Ferreira says a big reason why will be the coaching staff, particularly Barry, who has instilled a winning attitude into his players, despite the fact that wins were hard to come by last season.

"Last year was tough. Attitude wise, record wise, just everything. But one thing that was awesome was the way coach Barry got us ready to play Tewksbury on Thanksgiving," Ferreira said. "We did not win, but we played them tough and that has given us a great attitude going into this season."

"People credit the captains and players for that and we deserve some of the credit, but really that comes from coach Barry. He is the one behind that."

Of course ultimately a team's success will hinge mostly on the performance of its players, and the Wildcats are fortunate to be blessed with two great captains and linebackers in Ferreira and fellow senior Dylan Masiello. They provide a formidable duo for any opponent to deal with.

"They complement each other really well," Barry said. "(Ferreira) is more of a guy who takes on the blocks and plugs the hole, while (Masiello) has a real nose for the football and is an instinct player. He's got a knack for avoiding the blocker and making the tackle."

Ferreira agrees with Barry's assessment of him and Masiello.

"We definitely work off each other very well," Ferreira said. "And that is how linebackers should be."

Ferreira is certainly confident in himself and in teammates like Masiello, but much like his coach, however, Ferreira is not ready to predict just how many wins his team will have this season.

"There is no real telling how it is going to go," Ferreira said. "I have been playing football for ten years now and you never really know. But one thing you do get is a feeling of how good you can be when you are with the players and coaches. And this year I definitely have that feeling that we will surprise some people starting in our first game and hopefully through the rest of the season."

Boys Soccer team splits first two games

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
After starting out strong with a nice road win on Saturday morning, the young and inexperienced Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team fell victim to league rival Woburn, 2-2, in a cross-over game held Tuesday night under the lights at Alumni Stadium to even the team's record to 1-1.

Woburn took the lead three minutes in and after the 'Cats tied it up, the Tanners made it 2-1 before the break and 3-1 six minutes into the second half before Wilmington made it interesting scoring one back four minutes later. After that, Wilmington struggled to possess the ball, struggled to get any good quality shots on net and the inexperience, lack of composure among other things were clearly displayed.

"The first half we got out-toughed to the ball throughout the entire half and we gave up that early goal," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "We came back and took advantage of the (goalie's) miscue to tie the game back up. But then they scored the second one on a similar goal where we were just beaten to the ball."

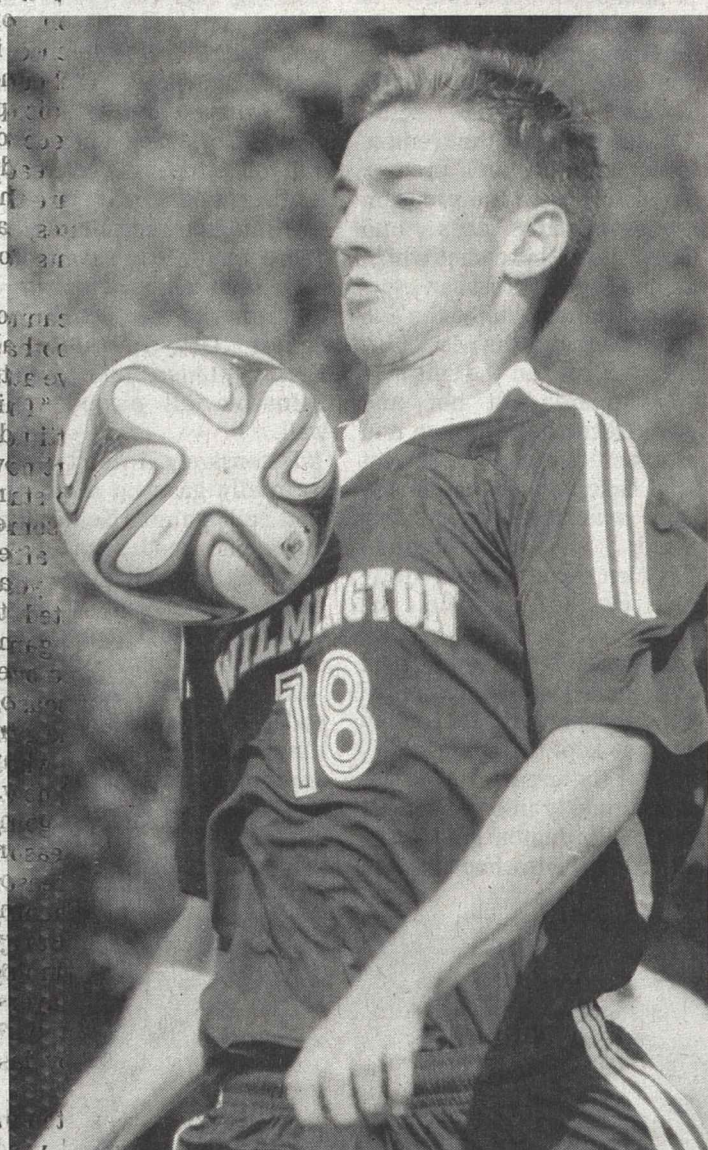

"In the second half we were more physical and we matched their physical play, but it was total lack of execution - a lot of little stuff. I guess it's a work in progress. We played a lot better Saturday against Reading. We played a lot tougher. These (Woburn) guys are a lot more physical and we clearly didn't like it. We didn't like the physical stuff, so we'll see."

Woburn took the early 1-0 lead just three minutes into what turned into a very physical game with tons of fouls called on both sides. Wilmington was called for a foul and Woburn's Eric Murakami took an indirect kick right before his bench from 25 yards out. The ball was beautifully placed going from right to left and Michael Haley broke free untouched through the defensive stance and tapped the ball into the right hand corner.

Wilmington came right back and took advantage of a mental lapse as the Woburn goalie used his hands on a loose ball which came off the foot of one of his defenders. That gave the Wildcats an indirect kick at the '6 yard box to the left of the keeper, and Ryan Kinsella drilled the ball to the opposite side and it was tipped in by Patrick McFall for his second goal of the young season.

Woburn then took the lead with ten minutes to go in the first half, before making it 3-1 at the six minute mark of the second half as a corner kick curled right into the top right corner.

Wilmington did cut the lead back down to one on terrific passing. Evan Raffi started with the ball deep in the Wildcats territory before sending it up the right wing to Matt Spurr, who quickly dished it to Gabb Saenchandi. He moved passed midfield with the ball and get a great through ball to Kevin Goncalves, who outraced the defenders and tapped the ball home past the goalie making it 3-2 and that ended the game's scoring.

On Saturday, Wilmington knocked off Reading 2-0. Goalie Ryan Horgan made eight saves to record the shut out while McFall and Goncalves scored the goals. Justin Leger had an assist, while, Scanlon said Raffi and Spurr played well.

It was also the 299th career victory as a head soccer coach for Scanlon, who also coached at Methuen and Westford before taking over here in Wilmington in 2001. He also just won his 300th game in ice hockey this past winter, all 300 coming at WHS since being behind the bench for the 1991-'92 season.

The Wildcats will remain at home for two games this week first with a very talented Lexington squad on Thursday afternoon at the North, before another night game Tuesday against Burlington at 6.

Girls Soccer team gets all tied up

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

Despite dominating possession and in shots, the Wilmington High School Girls' Soccer team ended in a 1-1 tie against Reading in the team's season opener held on a very humid Saturday morning played at the Wilmington High Field Turf.

The teams played to a scoreless first half before things really opened up in a very physical second half.

Wilmington got on the board first scoring a beautiful goal five minutes in, before Reading tied the game up on a tremendous rocket shot on a direct kick from 30 yards out six minutes later in the 11th minute of the second half. Neither team could get another one the rest of the way and they settled for the one point each in the Middlesex League standings.

"Considering there are so many people going onto the (varsity) field for the first time, so I thought we played well for the first time out," said head coach Sue Hendee. "I thought we had a lot of good scoring opportunities and now we just have to fine tune that and work on finishing."

"We need to work on our shape a little bit in middle (of the field). We lost our entire midfield from last year so it's going to be a little while before we are going to be able to put that together, especially playing kids who have not played that position before.

"I do have to say that I threw Nadia (Barletta) in there this week after Alexa (Papastathis) got hurt and I thought she did a pretty good job. Again we'll have to do some fine tuning."

In the 15th minute of the first half, Wilmington had a tremendous opportunity to get on the board as Kayla McCauley - who played a fantastic game - sent a pass to her right and Cecilia Chase - who has the tremendous potential for a promising future with the program - took the pass and unleashed a hard shot which nailed the far crossbar.

A few minutes later the duo were back at it as McCauley had the ball on the left side of the Reading net and worked the ball through and it eventually got on the foot of Chase, whose left footed shot was saved by a very good keeper, Meghan O'Brien, who turned away five of the six shots she faced.

Seconds before the first half ended, Reading nailed the crossbar and that lucky bounce kept the game scoreless at the break.

But quickly into the second half, Wilmington got on the board. Barletta had the ball on the Wildcats 40-yard line near the left sideline. She gave a nice pass ahead to Casey McFall, who then immediately put a through ball up to the left hand side where Chase came in, controlled the ball, and while beating a defender, she was able to put the ball on her left foot and put shot inside the left hand post for her first varsity goal giving the 'Cats the 1-0 lead.

About six minutes later, Reading tied the game up. Wilmington was called for a foul and the Rockets were awarded a direct kick from 30 yards out. Malisa Gandevani struck a beautiful ball to the top right corner to tie the game up.

Wilmington keeper Kellie Souza made four saves, one solid one, while defensively in front of her Christina Spinos, Devyn Malatesta, Kristen Luise and Jamie Spinazola all played very well.

"Defensively, I don't think we really gave up a quality shot all game. Kellie did make one good save," said Hendee. "Overall for a first game, not knowing what to expect and playing on a very hot day, I was happy."

On Tuesday, Wilmington ended in another tie, this time with Woburn at 1-1. Jordyn Granara scored the lone goal on an assist from McFall, while Souza made two saves in the net.

Lady 'Cats off to 0-2 start

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

The bad news is the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team faced two of the top three teams they'll see all season already. The bad news is the Wildcats are 0-2 and have yet to score a goal.

On Monday night, the Wildcats hosted old Cape Ann League rival North Andover, now competes in the Merrimack Valley Conference, in a non-league game, coming just three days after losing to perennial state contender Reading, 2-0.

In Monday's game, the Wildcats started off a bit slow and allowed the Scarlet Knights to control the first 15-20 minutes including scoring a goal, before the Wildcats kicked it into high gear and had multiple chances to tie the game up but couldn't finish. When the final horn went off, the Wildcats fell 1-0.

"I thought it was a good game in general and it was one of those games where we couldn't catch a break," said coach Leanne Ebert. "North Andover definitely came out quicker than we did, but after the (first 20 minutes) I thought we played better and we were competitive."

"I thought for the most part we played a good game and the girls listened and were receptive to everything we told them to do. North Andover has unbelievable stick skill and I thought we held our own against them. We definitely held them down except for the first 15 minutes or so."

North Andover scored the lone goal of the game at the 10 minute mark as Maddy Shea gave a nice centering pass to Kristen Hoffman, who had an open left side of the net and banked it home.

Minutes after that North Andover had a golden chance to make it 2-0 but Wildcat goalie Rose Cuzzo made one of her six saves of the night kicking out a beauty. North Andover kept up the pressure in the first half having six corners, while Wilmington had zero, before the 'Cats offense started to generate some chances.

The best bid came from Alexa Peroni, who came down the right wing and cut to the net and put three shots on net which were all kicked out by goalie Jacqui Petto (7 saves). That forced North Andover's coach to call a timeout, and from there both teams played a very evenly matched game.

Wilmington had one final chance to score before the first half ended as Nicole McInerney put two quality shots on net on consecutive session which were both turned away by Petto.

The game was 1-0 through the halftime break, and in the second half Wilmington got a boost from Melissa McNamara who made a great defensive play intercepting a pass off a corner before bringing the ball almost the length of the field and dishing the ball off to a teammate but nothing else could come out of it.

In the final 14 minutes, Wilmington had a number of chances to score, including Bethany Kane taking a long shot which ran right through the crease, and then with seven minutes left McInerney deflected a shot high into the air which was saved by the blocker of Petto. Wilmington also had seven corners in the second half, four coming in the final six minutes of the game.

"I think we just need to do some tweaking and fine tuning and we'll be fine," said Ebert.

In the loss to Reading, Ebert said her team played very well.

"Reading is a very skilled team and I thought the Wilmington girls gave it everything they had and they didn't quit," she said. "They played their hearts out until the end. It's a bummer to be 0-2 right now and yes it stinks but we just have to finish our offensive chances and (the wins) will come."

OMISSION

In last week's edition, Nicole Fletcher's name was inadvertently left out of the team's preview. Fletcher is a junior midfielder on this year's team.

Golfers fall to old rivals

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

It was not the start to the season that the Wilmington High Golf team and Steve Lynch were hoping for last Tuesday, September 2 when they hosted non-league rival Amesbury at Hillview County Club.

With a talented group of veteran players, including eight seniors, Lynch is expecting his team to be very competitive this season in the Middlesex Freedom Division. It is likely they will be, as the roster is very deep this season, but Lynch knows they will have to play better than they did in their 228-173 loss to their former Cape Ann League rivals.

"After a couple of weeks of practice I really felt like we were ready to go, but we lost fairly substantially," Lynch said. "I think we were very nervous, both our upperclassmen and our freshmen as well, so that was a little surprising on our home course."

The Wildcats played under the CAL scoring system of total which was more familiar to Amesbury, as the Wildcats normally play in the math play system, but Lynch did not feel the scoring system was a factor.

The scores were also unusually high for both teams because instead of the normal format where eight players play for each team and the top six scores are used, the teams played with ten players and counted the top eight scores.

"It should not have any bearing on way or the other," Lynch said. "We were at home and we had two weeks to prepare for the match."

Lynch did feel that three of his players played very well, including the player in the number ten spot, senior Joseph Hydorn, who shot a 31 to earn 40 points.

"He was playing in the tenth position and he ended up having one of our best days," Lynch said. "In fact, he was our only player to win his match."

A pair of freshmen, Billy McEvoy and Dan Gracia also played well, with McEvoy scoring 26 points while shooting a 42 and Gracia shooting a 45 to earn 21 points.

"Those were good performances by a couple of freshman so that was nice to see," Lynch said.

As rough of start to the season as it was, Lynch is confident that his team can rebound in the coming weeks, if they can just translate their stellar play in practice onto the course for matches.

"Today we had a great day," Lynch said on Monday after practice. "As I tried to tell them today, our matches are really a series of nine matches at each hole. So, if you have a bad hole, just move on to the next one and don't let negative thoughts enter your head."

"I want them to try and remember how they played today and play in their matches like it is a practice round. Hopefully, we can bounce back. I know we can play much better."

Both Cross-Country teams defeated in opener

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com

The Wilmington High School Boys Cross Country team was defeated by Arlington 16-47, in the season opening meet held Tuesday afternoon at the high school. But the construction of the new school, the usual 3.1 mile course was shortened to 2.85 miles. Arlington had the first four finishers which sealed the deal for the win.

"The best part about the meet is that everyone's time would potentially have been a personal record (if the course was 3.1 miles)," said coach Brian Schell. "Considering that it is the first meet of the season, things look very bright for each kid to achieve their goals. We may not have won the meet, but the times these kids pushed for were more than I asked for. Their splits were at a great pace, and it's already showing that their hard work is paying off."

Senior captain Chris Maienza was the fifth overall place finisher and tops for Wilmington as he came in at 16:45. Fellow captain Kevin Dunn was ninth at 17:28.

"I am very impressed with both captains, who stepped up today and led the team."

Junior Conor Bailey was third for Wilmington at 17:34, followed by Rob Hartsough (18:40), Dan Bell (19:23), Jason Dunn (19:41), Jack Stanford (20:47) and Paul Devlin (36:40).

"(Our) next meet (on Tuesday) is home against Reading, an even tougher team than Arlington," said Schell. "They possibly have the fastest runner in the league and even the top three team in the league. Knowing this allows me to help the kids push for a new strategy to improve even more than they have this week."

On the Girls side, Arlington also came out with the win by a score of 22-37.

Elisabeth Olson was Wilmington's top finisher as she was third overall at 20:23 for the 2.85 mile course. She was followed by Maeve Sullivan (5th, 20:46) and Jackie Ryan (6th, 20:46).

"Arlington was pretty string and much better than last year," said coach Tom Bradley. "Our top three girls ran very well. We split the top six finishers and the effort was terrific."

The other Wildcat performers included Anna Delacruz (15th, 21:55), Stacy Robichaud (16th, 21:56) and then Annie Romanzo, Emily Monteforte and Kate McNeil.

"There were some good results and plenty of effort which we will need next week against Reading at home," said Bradley.

VOLLEYBALL

The Wildcats opened their season with a tough 3-0 loss to Reading, falling in three close matches at 25-22, 27-26 and 25-22. Head Coach Meghan Sheehy said her team played very well against a Reading squad, which is always a league contender. The Wildcats faced Woburn on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime before coming home Tuesday to face Lexington.

Above, Chris Maienza is the lead Wilmington runner and to the right, Jackie Ryan, Elisabeth Olson (partially hidden) and Maeve Sullivan run the course for the WHS Cross Country teams during the season opening meet against Arlington on Tuesday afternoon.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Lady Rams pick up two wins to start the season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech Girls Soccer team will be looking to capture their seventh straight Commonwealth Athletic Conference title this season, and although it is early, after just two games the Lady Rams look well on their way to making another run at the title.

Shawsheen opened their season this past week with a pair of home games, and it would have been difficult for them to have looked more dominant as they picked up a pair of 4-0 victories, first over Notre Dame Academy last Thursday, and then over Whittier Tech on Tuesday.

The Lady Rams were tested against Whittier on Tuesday, at least in the first half, as they led just 1-0 at the break, but a dominant second half led to the 4-0 victory.

"Whittier has improved quite a bit," Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud said. "It used to be a game that we could just chalk up as a win, but they gave us a tough game today and we had to work for it."

In the CAC's new tiered realignment, Shawsheen remains in the Upper Division, while Whittier and Notre Dame have been dropped to the Middle Division, making games against these teams even more important in some ways, as a loss to a team in a lower division could have negative implications.

"These games are stressful now," Michaud laughed. "We don't want to lose one of these. I told the girls at the half that if we lost this game it would be tough to recover from. I was happy with the way we responded in the second half."

The Lady Rams got goals from seniors Emily Irwin and Yvette Simoes and juniors Lynne Snook and Lisa Ferreri, along with six saves from junior goalie Janina Kennedy of Tewksbury on her way to her second straight shutout.

Shawsheen out shot Whittier 28-6 for the game, and in the second half they began to capitalize on their chances.

"We were dominating for a while, but we just had had not put it in the net," Michaud said. "I think in the second half it was just a combination of us playing much better and I think wearing them down a little bit."

Part of the reason the Lady Rams were able to wear down their opposition was the strong play of their defensive corps of senior Jackie Farraher and junior Kelsey Farraher of Tewksbury along with senior Darien Lavino of Tewksbury and junior Nicole Kopacz.

Michaud had thought going into the season that the defense, along with Kennedy in net would be one of the strengths of his team and through two games that has certainly been the case.

"They are probably the fastest defensive group I have ever had and I have had some fast groups," Michaud said. "They have done a great job passing the ball to each other and Janina has done a great job of distributing the ball to them. They help wear the opposition now because any time our opponents had a breakaway one of them would run down and get the ball."

"The four of them are just so relaxed and confident back there together and they work so well together. I am very happy with the way they are playing."

In the win over Notre Dame, Shawsheen got goals from Ferreri, Kim Hayes, Snook and Angie Bankowski.

Last season, as great as the Lady Rams were, they did have some trouble scoring goals. Although it is early, with four goals in each of their first two games, it looks like goals might be easier to come by this season.

"Last year it was much more difficult to score and we had a lot more 0-0 ties, or 1-0 wins," Michaud said. "It was nice to have two really good wins like that to start the season."

Shawsheen will look to continue their winning ways on Thursday when they hit the road to take on CAC Upper Division rival Greater Lowell before hosting non-league rival St. Mary's next Monday.

BOYS SOCCER

The Shawsheen Boys Soccer team is under the direction of a new head coach for the first time in 16 years after the retirement of long time leader Dick Barriss after last season, but they have been left in good hands, with a Hall of Fame coaching stepping in to fill Barriss' shoes.

The Rams will be led this season by long time Billerica High Girls coach Tome Severo, who not only started the girls program at Billerica High, but then went on to coach them for the next 30 years, earning a spot in the Massachusetts State Coaches Hall of Fame before leaving to take over the Shawsheen job this season.

Severo acknowledges it was difficult to leave Billerica after such a successful run with the Indians, but he found the opportunity to coach at Shawsheen to be very exciting.

"I loved every minute of coaching in Billerica, but the Shawsheen Tech job was very appealing to me for a lot of reasons. First of all the Athletic Director (Al Costabile) is such a great guy," Severo said. "And since I have been here it has been great. This is a very coachable group of kids with a great attitude and I have been very impressed."

Just as Severo was a fixture at Billerica High, Barriss was a fixture at

difficult. But thanks to the efforts of the players it has gone smoothly.

"I am a veteran coach so of course I know what I am doing, but I am still a different coach for these kids and they have been very accepting," Severo said. "They have been very open to coaching. The results have not been exactly what we would have liked yet, but I have been very happy with our effort."

As Severo alluded to, the Rams have not gotten the results they would have liked this season, as they are off to an 0-1-1 start after a 3-0 loss to Northeast last Thursday and a 0-0 tie with Whittier on Tuesday.

In the deadlock with Whittier, Severo felt his team carried play for stretches of the game, out shooting their opposition 28-10, but just could not get the goal they needed for the win. "We played very well. We out shot them and really did enough to win except score," Severo said. "I was encouraged because the effort was definitely there."

Severo was also encouraged by the presence of senior goalie Brett Battaglia of Tewksbury in net, after the two year starter was forced to miss the season opener. Battaglia responded to his return to the lineup by stopping all ten shots he faced to earn the shutout.

"It was very nice to get him back in the lineup," Severo said. "He played very well."

Also playing well for the Rams were their three full-backs, seniors Gabe Colletti and Joe Abbott of Tewksbury and junior Scott Callahan, also of Tewksbury.

"We played very strong defensively," Severo said. "We also played well on offense. We maintained possession for long stretches. We had the ball in their end for much of the game, but their goalie made a lot of nice saves."

The Rams also played well for stretches in their season opener against Northeast, particularly in the second half after falling behind 3-0 at halftime.

"They were a very good team. They were very fast, especially three of their players who were very good," Severo said. "We played much better in the second half. It was much more even, so I was happy with the way we responded."

GOLF

It's been a fine start to the season for the Shawsheen Tech Golf team, as the Rams have won two of their three matches on the season, with victories over Burlington last Thursday and Essex/North Shore this Tuesday sandwiching a loss to Malden Catholic on Monday.

In their season opening 6-3 win over Burlington last Thursday on their home course at Patriot Golf Course, the Rams were led by an outstanding performance by senior captain Stephen Ferreira of Tewksbury, who shot a 39 to earn top medalist honors while winning his match 5-4.

They also got some strong efforts from sophomore Chris Mills, who shot a 43 on his way to a 5-4 victory and senior Ryan Collins who shot a 46 while taking a 5.5-3.5 victory. Mike Kelly shot a 49 and tied his match 4.5-4.5.

"Burlington was a good victory for us. We always have a tough match with them, so it was good to be able to come out on top," Shawsheen coach Tom Struthers said. "We had some kids shoot good rounds and I liked the way some of our kids fought back."

Collins, in particular had some ground to make up after losing the first hole while scoring an eight before bouncing back to take his match.

"He had a rough start, but with match play you are never really out of it and he came back and played well the rest of the way to get the win," Struthers said.

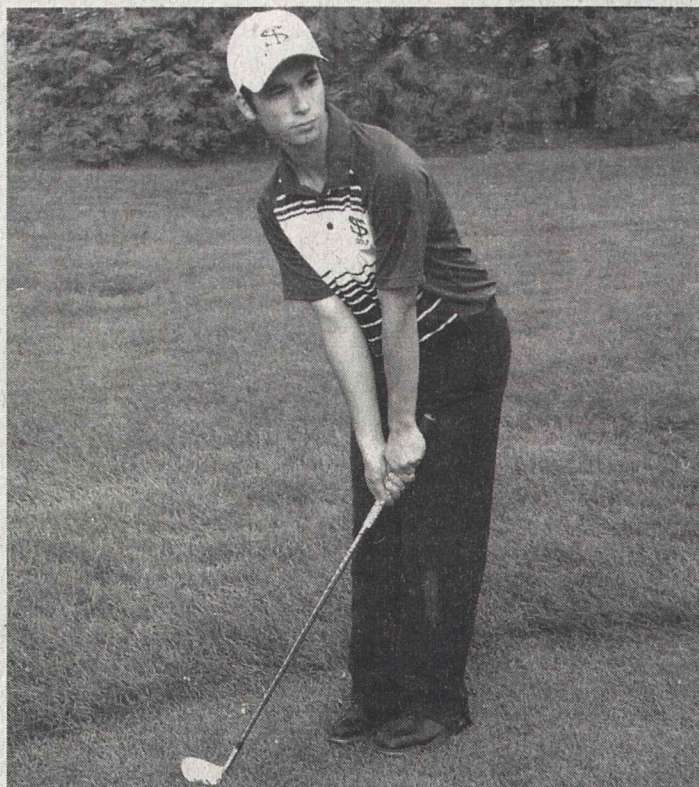

It was the play of Ferreira, however, that had everybody talking after the match, as the senior fired a 39 in a great performance.

"Stephen is playing very well. I don't think he has shot above a 40 yet this season," Struthers said. "He plays our course very well. He is very familiar with the Patriot and he played it well. I am very happy with the way he is playing."

Things did not go as well for the Rams on Monday as they suffered a 7.5-1.5 loss to Malden Catholic, but it was not for a lack of effort from several of their top players, as Collins shot a 37, while Ferreira shot a 40 and Mills shot a 45, but they still fell short against their powerful opponents.

"We will win a lot of matches if we play like that, but Malden Catholic was very good and they just got the better of us," Struthers said.

As if to prove Struthers point, the Rams went out the next day and dominated Essex/North Shore, winning by a score of 9-0 led by Collins who shot a 38 and won by a score of 7-2, Ferreira who shot a 40 on his way to a 7-2 victory, Collins (7-2), Mills (7-2) and Kelly (6-3).

"That was a good victory for us," Struthers said. "We had never played them before and we had a lot of our kids play very well."

FOOTBALL

Despite playing very well at times the Shawsheen Tech Football team was unable to come up with a victory in their season opener with Arlington Catholic last Friday night at Arlington's Peirce Field, dropping a 13-7 overtime decision to their non-league rivals.

Shawsheen held a 7-0 lead for much of the game after a 49-yard second quarter touchdown run by Craig Rich (19 carries, 129 yards), but a late AC touchdown, coming with less than 90 seconds left in the game, tied the score and sent the game to overtime.

In the overtime period, with each team getting a chance to score with four downs from their opponents ten yard line, the Rams took possession first and were stopped just shy of the goal line on both third and fourth down and were forced to turn the ball over to AC, who scored from one yard out on third down to take the win.

"We played well on both sides of the ball," Shawsheen coach Al Costabile said. "We did some really good things on both sides. It was really the type of game that we felt we could have had, but things did not go our way. They just made one more play than we did at the end."

The Rams scored first on a 49-yard touchdown run by Rich with 6:17 to go in the second quarter. It was Rich's first extended action at the varsity level and he responded very well to challenge, as he and senior Chris Arkalis (11 carries, 77 yards) chewed up chunks of yards on the ground. Junior quarterback Alex Tate of Tewksbury, meanwhile was 9-for-18 for 90 yards passing.

"Craig is a very instinctive runner. He runs very hard and what I have noticed is that he is a player that kids like to block for," Costabile said. "The offensive line and fullbacks like to block for a player like that and they feel the same way about Chris."

The Rams dominated the first half defensively, recording two interceptions (one each by Brodie Conway and Ryan Barnard) against quarterback Christian Rosati, while holding the Cougars to just 67 yards of total offense, but the Cougars were eventually able to strike late in the game when Rosati connected with Brendan Whitney for a 43-yard touchdown pass.

"It was a very good pass play that they scored on," Costabile said. "We did a real good job on them for most of the game, but they are a good passing team and when you've got a good team like that sooner or later they are going to get an angle on you and connect on a long play and they were able to beat us."

While the game did not go the Rams way, Costabile was proud of the way his team played, particularly given the way it started out when a botched kickoff return had them starting their opening drive at their own one yard line.

It looked like a recipe for disaster for the Rams, but instead they put together an impressive drive, moving the ball all the way to the Cougars 28 yard line before their drive stalled. Although they did not score, the opening drive showed Costabile a lot about his team.

"I thought that said so much about our team that we were able to move 70 yards like that," Costabile said. "And it was not like it was all just on one play. We were able to consistently be able to pick up yardage. To be able to do that as a team on the road said a lot about this team right from the start of the season."

College Round-Up

Bettano scores touchdown for Anna Maria in opener

By MIKE IPPOLITO

The fall is here and that means the college sports scene is underway. Here locally, both Wilmington and Tewksbury are extremely well represented with student-athletes making noise at the collegiate level.

Here's a breakdown of happenings from the collegiate ranks from the athletes from our two towns as well as some results from local road races over the last week-plus.

TEWKSBURY

Chris Bettano, a junior running back with the Anna Maria College Football team rushed for 49 yards and the Amcats only touchdown of the game in a 38-6 season opening loss to Worcester State last Saturday. The 2012 graduate of Tewksbury High also caught two passes for 15 yards.

UMass Dartmouth junior linebacker Derek Tarpey had eight tackles, including five solos for the Corsairs Football team in a season opening 21-14 win over Mount Ida. Tarpey, a 2012 graduate of Tewksbury High, led the Corsairs with 98 tackles last season.

Eddie Matovu, a freshman linebacker with the St. Anselm Football team had a tackle in his first ever college game with the Hawks in a 23-22 season opening win over Bowie State. Matovu was one of the stars of last season's state championship football team at Tewksbury High.

Fitchburg State sophomore tight end Devin Summiel had a big day for the Falcons Football team last Saturday. The 2013 Shawsheen Tech graduate hauled in two passes for 91 yards, including a 67 yard touchdown in the Falcons 28-6 season opening win over Becker College.

Franklin Pierce sophomore forward Nicole Chaet, a 2013 graduate of Tewksbury High had a fine start to her season last Friday night, scoring the first goal of the game and playing a sold midfield for the Ravens Women's Soccer team in a 5-0 victory over Dominican (N.Y.).

Colby Sawyer Women's Soccer senior captain Heather Carroll helped lead the Chargers to a 2-1 win over Norwich last Wednesday, helping to shut down the Norwich offense from her defender position. Carroll helped lead the Chargers to a program record 17 shutouts this season.

Eastern Connecticut State University volleyball player Allie Luppi got off to a great start this past week, capturing Tournament MVP honors as ECSU won the Fourth Annual David Hildebrandt Memorial Invitational over host Newbury College this past Saturday.

The junior libero served 12 consecutive points during the second set of the decisive match, including five aces during the run. She had nine aces total during the match.

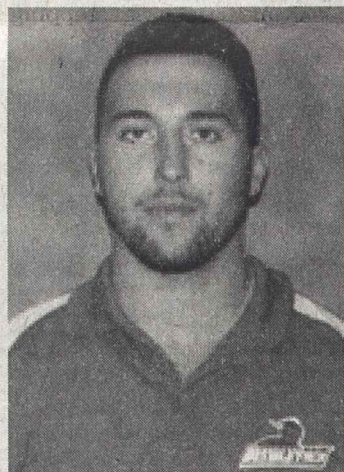

Worcester State senior volleyball player Ali Remigio had a good week for the Lancers, with three spikes, three kills and two digs in a 3-0 win over Becker College last Saturday.

This followed up an even better individual performance earlier in the day in a 3-1 loss to WPI, when the 2011 Tewksbury High graduate had seven kills, four digs and an ace.

Brian Amaral finished second out of 36 runners to lead Fitchburg State College to first place in the Jim Sheehan Memorial Cross Country Invitational event this past weekend. Amaral finished the 8K race with a time of 28:49. Fitchburg finished with 24 points as a team to win the four-team event.

Kelli Sugrue helped the Endicott Women's Volleyball team to a 3-0 win over Plymouth State last Friday, recording three spikes and four kills for the Gulls. The sophomore then had three spikes, five kills and two digs in a 3-1 loss to UMass Boston on Saturday.

Nicole McGolgan, a junior with the Wentworth Women's Tennis team, had an impressive win in a singles match last Thursday as part of a 9-0 win over Lesley University. The 2012 Tewksbury High graduate earned a three set victory by a score of 6-0, 4-6, 1-0 (10-7).

SEAN HANLEY

WILMINGTON

Worcester State senior Sean Hanley, had a big game for the Lancers Football team in their 38-6 win over Anna Maria last Saturday, with six tackles and three sacks. The 2011 graduate of Wilmington High led the team in tackles for the game.

UMass Lowell sophomore Lauren Bennett had a productive week for the River Hawks Volleyball team, coming up with four spikes and four kills against Robert Morris last Saturday. The 2013 graduate of Wilmington High also had two spikes and two kills in a loss to Youngstown State on Friday.

Kaitlyn Curley has already worked her way into the starting lineup for the Salem State Women's Soccer team. The freshman midfielder, who graduated from Wilmington High in June, has started and played well in both of her team's games as the Vikings are off to a 1-0-1 start.

Holly Niemiec had an assist for the Ithaca College Women's Soccer team in their 2-0 win over Stockton on August 30. Niemiec, a sophomore forward, is part of a Bombers squad that is off to a 3-0 start to the season, after advancing all the way to the sectional finals last season. The team is among the top ranked Division 3 programs in the country.

Colby Sawyer senior Chris DiCecca had a great game vs. Elms College back on August 29 in the season opener for the Chargers soccer team. The 2011 graduate of Wilmington High had both Chargers goals in a 2-2 tie.

Several former members of the Wilmington High Boys Soccer team are making their presence felt as freshmen for the Westfield State Men's Soccer team. On August 31, in a 12-0 win over Wheelock, Mitch Goulet had a pair of goals, while Connor Townsend had a goal and Jimmy Murphy and Kory McGilvray both also played well.

Becker College freshman field hockey player Jocelyn Cornish has started all three games for the Blackhawks this season. The 2014 graduate of Wilmington High is a midfielder.

Savannah Hubbard finished 11th overall out of 46 runners in the 10th annual Mass Maritime Travis Fuller Invitational Cross Country Meet. Hubbard finished with a time of 23:51 to help lead Emerson College to a second place team finish.

On the Men's side, Chris Monteforte finished 21st out of 36 runners to help lead Fitchburg State College to first place in the Jim Sheehan Memorial Cross Country Invitational event this past weekend. Amaral finished the 8K race with a time of 37:58. Fitchburg finished with 24 points as a team to win the four-team event.

RACE RESULTS

Along with our many talented college athletes several local residents also took to the road for road races this past week.

Wilmington was well represented in many of the local races this past week. Bob Donoghue finished 115th overall with a time of 82:34 at the Irish American 5K Labor Day Road Race. At the Around Cape Ann 5K, Brian and Theresa Davis finished 191 and 245th with respective times of 2:34.23 and 2:50.28.

At the Dracut Old Home Day 5K, Susan Andella finished 57th overall at 26:21.8 and she was followed by Cathleen Costello, who was 303rd overall at 43:33.5.

Finally at the 13th annual International Race for Progeria Research, Cindy Sauve was 19th with a time of 22:01 and she was followed by Ron Coutu who was 121st at 30:31.

Tewksbury also had plenty of road warriors of their own over the past week. Tewksbury had a handful of participants at the Dracut Old Home Day 5K including: Joe Andella (15th, 21:50.6), Christopher Lefebvre (50th, 25:52.6), Kevin Carey (104th, 28:56.1), Chris Aliknois (118th, 29:43.9), Tracy Nobrega Lefebvre (130th, 30:19.4), Jules Amartini (200th, 34:05.8), Nancy Sun (2012st, 34:06.7) and Kristina Maglio (282nd, 41:09.1).

And at the EMARC 5K event in Melrose, coming across the finish line were Michael Brewster (16th, 20:32), Wes Connelly (36th, 22:08), Toni Wood (78th, 25:58) and Kimberly Anderson (291st, 46:44).

If you are or know of a collegiate athlete, or have road race results, please send an email to: sports@yourtowncrier.com.

Oberg's terrific season cut short

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamlepote@hotmail.com
Scott Oberg has been down this road before. He's been on the shelf, recovery from a significant injury. But like he has done the previous times before, he patiently awaits the word when he is healed and ready to continue to pursue the dream he's had ever since he can remember: to pitch in the major leagues.

Last Tuesday, the Town Crier caught up with Oberg through a telephone interview from his New Jersey home. The former Tewksbury Memorial High School standout pitcher was four days removed at the time from arthroscopic surgery on his right throwing shoulder which shut down his very successful season with the Tulsa Drillers, the AA Affiliate of the Colorado Rockies.

"I'm feeling better right now," he said. "I had the surgery with Dr. Michael Joyce, the same guy who did my elbow and it was done in Hartford. The actual process took only about 15 to 20 minutes as he just had to clean some stuff out."

"I believe I will start the rehab process in a few months, I just have to wait to hear from the Rockies. They'll have me on a throwing program probably around December and then I'm hoping I'll be fully ready for spring training."

This past March Oberg was invited to the Rockies' spring training as a non-roster invitee as he's not on the team's 40-man roster as of yet. He appeared in several games and had some success before being sent to Double A, Tulsa. That came after he had tremendous success in A Ball for a half of a season back in 2012 after he was drafted in the 15th round, and then he recorded 33 saves as a closer for the High-A Modesto Nuts last summer.

His numbers this year were equally as impressive until he started to feel some discomfort.

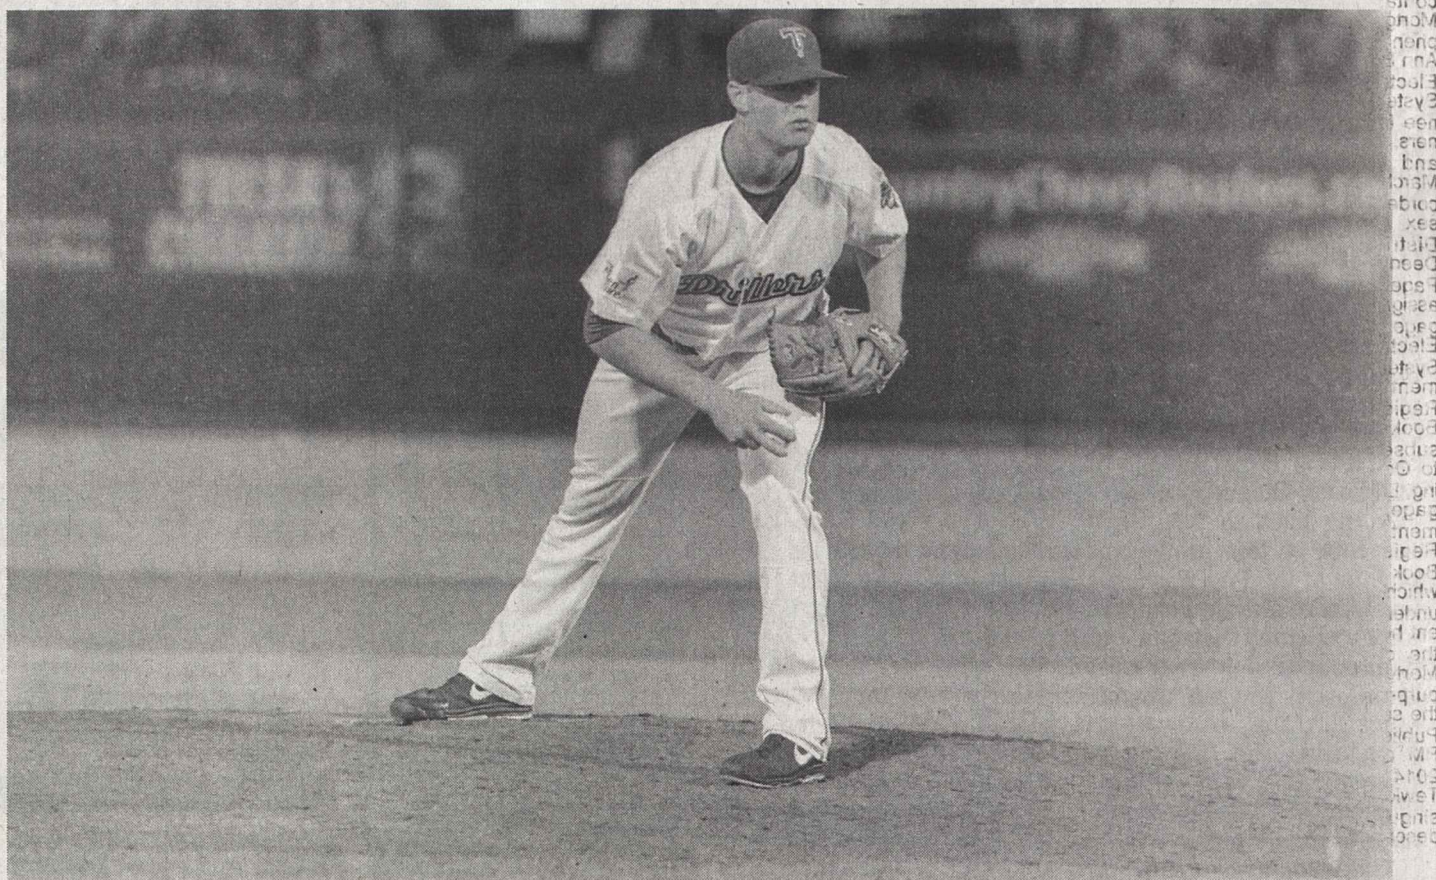

"It's definitely tough when you can't play," he said. "My shoulder started to bother me during the first week of June. It just progressively got worse so they shut me down a bit (and I went on the disabled list). I was struggling through the rehab process and I started to throw the ball again in the beginning of July. My first game back didn't feel right so I told them that I was still having discomfort and from there we sat down and went over my options."

The options were pretty limited. He could continue to rest and rehab, or he could have Joyce go in and take out the little fray around his labrum and he chose that route.

"It's another hurdle I have to get over and it's obviously never fun to be on the disabled list and to have surgery and be out for the season," he said. "Not being able to play is tough. You just get such an appreciation for the game when you are out. I just want to get back healthy and help the team win."

That he did once again this year. He finished the season with a 0-1 record including a 2.63 ERA. In 27 games he had 15 saves, including giving up 22 hits, one home run, while walking six and striking out 21.

"I was throwing well (up to the injury)," he said. "I hadn't been walking as many batters as I had been before and my fastball command and change-up were working well. I was starting to feel much more comfortable throwing to lefties no matter if I was ahead or behind in the count. Plus (the Drillers) had me add a slider/cutter this year. It's still Former Tewksbury Memorial High School standout pitcher Scott Oberg was having a terrific season pitching for the Double A Tulsa Drillers before a shoulder injury ended his season. He said he should be ready to go come next spring training. (courtesy photo/Tulsa Drillers)

a work in progress but by the end of May I really started to have a feel for it. It ended up being a strikeout pitch to righties and it was a pitch I started to feel really comfortable with. I was happy where I was at throwing the ball."

Oberg added that he still throws his other pitches, fastball, curve and change-up and now the cutter/slider. He said his fastball was reaching between 93-96 consistently and his change-up was around 85 to 87. His bread and butter pitch in high school and college was his lethal curve, which experts said last year was the best in the entire Rockies' organization.

"I'm not going away from the curve," he said. "Adding the cutter/slider is just a different look. It also allows me to have better approaches with the other hitters. In our league we play the same teams a lot so you get used to a lot of the hitters you face so you want to make their decisions that much tougher, and not just stay on the fastball plane because they'll crush it."

Besides posting strong numbers, Oberg was also teammates with some of the Rockies' top pitching prospects including Jon Gray and Eddie Butler. Gray finished 10-5 and was just told that he would not participate in the Drillers' playoffs.

"This is his first full season and it was definitely a transition for him," said Oberg. "I don't think he'll admit this, but I think it was tougher for him pitching in his home state. He had 20-plus people at every game he started. But he showed a lot of improvement and maturity and it was good to see him do so well and learn how to pitch."

Oberg added that almost every home game the park was sold-out and he had a lot of fun this year in Tulsa.

"I enjoyed Tulsa," he said. "It's a Mid-West City and it's different than back East, but we had awesome crowds. The fans are really into every game and on Friday and Saturday nights we would be packed with between eight to ten thousand people and it was great."

Through his minor league career, Oberg has a mark of 1-9 with a 2.17 ERA including 61 saves, while striking out 111 batters in 107.2 innings. This year and last he led the organization in saves.

Currently the Rockies are struggling, especially with pitching, so if Oberg can get healthy again and throw the way he did before he got hurt, who knows when and if he'll get the call to "The Show"?

"I just want to start getting my full range of motion back and build up the strength in my shoulder," he said. "I want to take advantage of the down time and get healthy. Hopefully I'll be ready for spring training and we'll see what happens (and if I get another invitation). The entire organization works hard with the injury bug this year and there were a lot of key guys out with injuries."

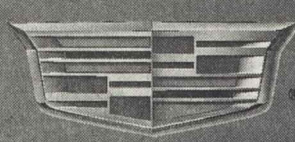

Oberg was certainly one of them, but you can surely see this kid will be back on his feet before you know it.

Pop Warner A team starts season off with convincing victory

One of the most successful groups of players in the history of Wilmington Pop Warner began their final season on Sunday against rival Woburn.

Eleven players from last year's Eastern Mass Pop Warner B Team Champions, along with 13 new teammates, tried to pick up where they had been before: against a rival and in a Middlesex League game.

Dating back to 2011 when the core of this group was playing at the Pop Warner D level, these players began an unprecedented streak of dominance against Middlesex League teams. Since 2011, this team was 22-0 against the Middlesex League. A win against Woburn on Sunday would have been win number 23.

The Wildcats overcame an 8-0 halftime deficit by scoring 20 unanswered points in the second half to topple Woburn 20-8. Middlesex League win number 23 was in the books.

Before the game, Head Coach Gerry Sullivan named the five captains for the 2014 season: Andrew Sullivan, Frankie Irizarry, Joseph Dumoulin, Peter Marino and Kyle Kenyon. Those five players, along with many of their teammates, were a big reason the Wildcats were able to open the 2014 season with a victory.

Running back/Linebacker Pete Marino was out for the game with a high ankle sprain but he should be set to begin his 2014 campaign this week. Dumoulin had 11 carries for 117 yards and three touchdowns while Sullivan contributed 27 yards rushing and passing to the offense.

On defense, Irizarry had five tackles and two sacks while Kenyon had five tackles and two tackles-for-loss. Another significant contribution to the defense came from Nose Tackle Owen Steen who had four sacks on the day.

The Wildcats lost the coin toss and when Woburn deferred to the second half, Wilmington took the ball. The Wildcat offense looked sluggish on the first drive going three and out before Adam Bishop came in to punt on fourth down.

The Wildcat defense looked solid for most of the first half. The run defense held Woburn to negative yards on the day thanks to outstanding play from Chris Medeiros (3.5 tackles), Jake Timmons (2 tackles) and Michael Steen (1.5 tackles) on the defensive line. The defensive line had an outstanding 21.5 tackles on the day.

The next time out on offense, the Wildcats went with a different group. Sean Kelley (four carries, 16 yards) came in at quarterback along with Randall Vega (four carries, 14 yards), Kyle Munro and Bailey Smith in the backfield.

The offensive line consisted of Chris Stokes and Jason Marquard at Tight End, Omar Eldaly and Michael Smolinsky at Tackle, Max Caso and Ben Stafford at Guard and Will Ameral at Center. This group fought hard for tough yards but a fumble (recovered) and a false start penalty negated the first drive and the groups second drive took the team right to the last two minutes of the first half before turning the ball over to Woburn.

On that drive, deep in Wildcat territory, Woburn scored and converted the subsequent extra point (PAT) to go up 8-0. With only second remaining on the clock, the Wildcats were able to run two plays with quarterback Sean Kelley gaining 10 yards in two carries but the clock ran out with the Wildcats down 8-0 at the half.

It was a different story for the Wildcats in the second half. With only 35 yards of total offense in the first half and no scores, Wilmington gained 141 yards of offense in the second half, including 128 yards rushing to go along with three scores.

The Wildcats scored quick taking only two plays for Dumoulin to add fifty yards to his rushing total and get Wilmington on the board. The Wildcats missed the PAT so they were still down 8-6 early in the second half.

The defense continued to step up in the second half. Getting nowhere on the ground, Woburn tried to air it out a bit more in the second half but corner back Devin Clerico came up big with four tackles while blanketing Woburn's biggest receiver. Colin Rooney was also solid at the linebacker spot, along with Dumoulin and Kenyon.

After failing to score on their second possession of the second half, the Wildcats third possession was a bit more fruitful. It was a six play drive that began with a 13 yard completion from Sullivan to Irizarry, included back to back runs by Sullivan and culminated with a 19-yard touchdown run by Dumoulin right into the heart of the Woburn defense. Key blocks by wide receiver Nick Kullman, tight end Bishop and fullback Munro helped Dumoulin find the endzone for his second score.

Bishop's PAT was good and the Wildcats took a 14-8 lead against a stunned and dejected Woburn squad.

On their final possession, Wilmington scored an insurance touchdown when Dumoulin took the handoff and galloped 16 yards to the endzone for his third touchdown of the day. In all, it was a great team effort by the Wildcats A Team.

Cornhole Tournament, Oct. 4

The Kiwanis Club of Wilmington has announced it will be hosting a "Cornhole Tournament" on Saturday, October 4th at the Wilmington K of C Hall from noon to 4 pm.

Pee Wee 2's start season off with a draw

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Pee Wee 2 team kicked off a new Valley League season Saturday morning, skating in Cambridge to take on Waltham.

Max Churchill was in net, fronted by starting defensemen Ryan Packer and Conor Peterson. Jason Davey took the opening faceoff, with Colin Gates to the right and Anthony Bowker on the left wing.

The teams kept up a high pace, with few whistles in the early going and players changing on the fly. Second pair defensemen Joseph Hartzell and Brian Dunfey worked well together, while the forward group included Brayden Sanborn, Jake Glinner, Joseph Cornish, Brendan George and William Alworth.

Waltham grabbed the first goal midway through the first period with good puck movement to open up space for their shooters. Shortly after scoring, Waltham handed the Wildcats a power play with a tripping call, but Wilmington couldn't capitalize. Churchill made several good saves on odd man rushes, but couldn't stop them all as Waltham extended the lead to 2-0 early in the second period.

Late in the second, another Wilmington power play was held off by the Waltham skaters.

Early in the third period, Anthony Bowker got the Wildcats on the board with a hard shot from the right circle that found a top corner of the net. Joseph Cornish got the assist as the blue and white looked to rally. The sustained effort paid off when Jason Davey tipped the puck back to Ryan Packer at the blue line. Packer's screen shot either bounced or deflected and was in the net before Waltham's goalie ever saw it.

Tied at two with time running out, Waltham turned it up another notch and scored quickly to re-gain the lead with three and a half minutes remaining. But Wilmington showed their mettle with a pass from Conor Peterson springing Brendan George in alone on the Waltham goal. George was denied on the first attempt, but collected the rebound and stuffed in the tying goal with just over a minute on the clock.

The 3-3 final score reflected the evenly matched game seen by the appreciative crowd.

Squirt 4's

The Wilmington Squirt 4 Hockey team got their season off to a great start on Sunday, with an early morning 8-2 victory on the road over host Burlington at the Burlington Ice Palace.

The Wildcats (1-0) were led by an outstanding performance by forward Ella Cedrone, who had seven goals to pace their offense. Jordan Legere scored the other Wildcats goal, while Aadarsh Sivakumar, Bobby Dodge, Jack Seibel and Sean O'Donaghue had assists on the day, with O'Donaghue providing three helpers.

It was a well played game right from the start for the Wildcats who got a goal from Cedrone just 32 seconds into the contest with an assist from Sivakumar on their way to a 5-1 lead at the end of the first period.

Cedrone made it 2-0 at the 1:00 mark of the period, before Burlington responded with a goal to cut the lead in half. It didn't take long for the Wildcats to respond after the Burlington goal, as Legere scored on a break-away at the 5:36 mark of the period after a great pass from O'Donaghue.

Cedrone would add two more goals before the end of period, and with the play of a fine defensive corps of Adam Ippolito, Zach Weinstein, Dylan Mullarky and Seibel, along with some stellar play in net from goalie Jake McLean, the Wildcats were never seriously threatened the rest of the way.

Cedrone scored her fifth goal of the game at the 4:10 mark of the second period on assists by O'Donaghue and Dodge to make the score 6-1 and the lead rose to 7-1 when she potted another goal late in the period.

All the while the Wildcats were getting even more solid play up front from forwards Shane Costello and Brett Gallucci, who despite not winding up on the score sheet, made several fine plays to keep the puck moving and set up the offense.

Cedrone capped the Wildcats scoring just over a minute into the third period to make the score 8-1.

Little League offering early registration for returning players

Woburn celebrates Count Rumford roots

Len Harmon constructs cannon to mark two Thompson anniversaries

By GORDON VINCENT

This year, there are two important milestones involving Woburn's most famous Revolutionary War-era figure, Sir Benjamin Thompson, the venerable Count Rumford.

In 1714, the birthplace and home of Thompson was built in North Woburn, and the Count died in 1817. Last month, the Rumford Birthplace Museum hosted a celebration of both events, with period re-enactors and a recreation by Woburn resident Leonard Harmon of an original cannon from the period.

The colorful Count Rumford was born on March 26, 1753, at his home off Elm Street in North Woburn. The house is on the List of National Historic Landmarks and the List of National Register of Historic Places. His early academic pursuits led him to become a schoolmaster at the age of 19, but his loyalist tendencies led him to be outcast from the Colonial war effort, and he eventually evacuated to Britain.

Among his other accomplishments, Thompson was also a physicist and an inventor, and his scientific career prospered in England, according to the Middlesex Canal Association. In 1779, he was elected to the prestigious Royal Society and went to Germany as a military adviser. He founded the Englischer Garten in Munich, still one of the top tourist designations in Bavaria, was elected a Foreign Honorary Member of the American Academy of Arts & Sciences, and in 1791 was made a Count of the Holy Roman Empire, taking the name Rumford after the town in New Hampshire where he had been married.

One of his scientific experiments involved the production of heat when an army cannon was bored. According to the Encyclopedia of Science: "In one spectacular experiment Rumford had the barrel of the cannon bored under water, using horses to move the cannon round. To the amazement of the spectators, the water was made to boil, and continued to do so as long as the machining of the metal carried on."

"The main conclusion reached by Rumford was that heat could not in fact be a material substance, as supposed in the caloric theory, but was the result of the mechanical energy consumed during the boring operation. The idea, held even by such eminent scientists as Lavoisier, that heat might be a chemical element could no longer be accepted."

According to Harmon, Thompson's original cannon came from a British ship that was seized during the War of 1812. It came to Woburn in 1849 and was situated at the Rumford House in North Woburn until it was stolen in 1897. The cannon was recovered six years later, but then donated to the World War II effort in 1943. The cannon weighed 1,950 pounds, nearly a full ton, and presumably was converted to munitions.

As one might expect, fashioning a Revolutionary War-era cannon from scratch is no easy feat.

"It took quite awhile," said Harmon, a former member of the Woburn Historical Commission and President of the Rumford Historical Association, which maintains the birthplace of Count Rumford as a site of historic interest.

The birthplace also contains reconstructed models of Count Rumford's scientific experiments and inventions. Also on display is a copy of a portrait of Count Rumford by Gainsborough and a library of Rumford biographies and essays, and as of last month, Harmon's replica cannon.

The barrel was cut at a foundry in New York and then Harmon to S-4

Movie Reviews by Paul Feely

"The November Man"

A SHOWCASE OF WHAT COULD HAVE BEEN with the 007 franchise had Brosnan been kept to play the Bond iteration of a grittier and more dangerous real-world film.

"THE NOVEMBER MAN"

After three films as James Bond, Pierce Brosnan returns to the spy world with The November Man.

Just don't confuse Brosnan's ex-CIA agent Devereaux with James Bond.

This ruthless and remorseless trained killer prefers bourbon to martinis, swears to one-liners, and shies away from female companionship for fear any attachment could be used against him.

"You feel the need for a relationship," Devereaux reprimands his young protégé Mason for hooking up with a young woman, "get a dog."

At 61, Brosnan is a bit grayer but no less buff than his Bond days, physical traits well suited to play the retired agent haunted by the tragedy surrounding his final mission, yet willing and quite able to return to that dangerous world when called upon by his former boss, Hanley (Bill Smitrovich).

Devereaux's directive is to rescue a former Russian agent named Celia (Caterina Scorsone) before the country's soon-to-be-elected president, Arkady Federov (Lazar Ristovski), has her killed by a highly trained assassin (Amila Terzimehic) who's been busy offing other former Russian spies.

Celia apparently has the goods on Federov, and Devereaux's difficult job of getting her out of Russia alive is made all the more complicated when Mason (Luke Bracey) shows up with other CIA agents.

But The November Man's twists are only beginning, as its complicated plot involving politics, power, and revenge sends Devereaux on a frantic new mission to find a young woman named Alice Fournier in Eastern Europe (Olga Kurylenko) and protect her from Mason and the Russian assassin.

For much of the film, Devereaux works to uncover Alice's connection to Federov, while learning just how many enemies she has and who can and can't be trusted to help him.

The secondary plot - his relationship with Mason - is a good one, as the teacher and student play cat-and-mouse, using their knowledge of each other's weaknesses as an advantage.

That there's a third spy - a Russian assassin - as a threat only adds to the intrigue.

The November Man is a Brosnan project all the way, as the actor spent years developing the 1987 novel There Are No Spies, the seventh book in Bill Granger's The November Man spy-thriller series, into a film.

Whether intentional or not, Devereaux is a showcase of what could have been with the 007 franchise had Brosnan been kept to play the Bond iteration of a grittier and more dangerous real-world spy. It's a pleasant surprise to see that Brosnan could've carried Bond into that character evolution, which has been well handled by Daniel Craig.

In Wilmington Chamber Half Marathon Sept. 28th

Wilmington's Chamber of Commerce will host its 10th annual Half Marathon and 5K Run or Walk on Sept. 28.

The event benefits scholarships for Wilmington students and draws about 600 athletes each year.

The run will begin at WCTV, 10 Waltham St., Wilmington, and wind through Wilmington's back roads, finishing at the start. The 13.1-mile half-marathon and the 3.1-mile 5K courses are USA Track & Field certified and racers will use B-chips to track race times.

The event will feature music, concessions, a bounce house, face painting, sponsor booths and giveaways.

Entry fees are $30 for the half-marathon for advance registration, $35 on race day; $20 for the 5K Run/Walk for advance registration, $25 on race day; and $15 for students ages 18 and younger. Free parking is available.

Registration and sign-in will be from 8 to 9:30 a.m.; racers/walkers will assemble at the starting lines from 9:30 to 9:45 a.m.; the shotgun start will be at 10 a.m. Racers can also pick up their numbers and B-chip from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sept. 27 at the race site, if they prefer to avoid registration on the day of the race.

Registered participants are guaranteed a race T-shirt, and the top three competitors in race, age and gender groups will receive awards. All participants will receive a ribbon.

To register online, visit wilmington-machamber.com and send with a check to Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, 226 Lowell St., Wilmington, MA 01887.

For more information, call 978-657-7211 or visit wilmington-machamber.com.

Performances Sept. 11 - 28 Doubt opens Thursday at Stoneham Theatre

Stoneham Theatre 395 Main Street, opens its 15th season with Doubt, John Patrick Shanley's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, featuring Karen MacDonald and Gabriel Kuttner in the two lead roles. Performances run from September 11-28 at Stoneham Theatre, 395 Main Street in Stoneham.

When a zealous principal confronts a priest about a relationship with a student, is she on a witch-hunt, or is the priest hiding a dark secret? Doubt was named the #1 play of 2004 by Time, Newsday, Entertainment Weekly, Daily News, Star-Ledger, Associated Press, Timeout New York, and the Wall Street Journal and now celebrates its 10th anniversary. Stoneham Theatre's production is directed by Associate Artistic Director Caitlin Lowans and features a stellar cast: Karen MacDonald as Sister Aloysius; Gabriel Kuttner as Father Brendan Flynn; Kathryn Myles as Sister James; and Miranda Craigwell as Mrs. Muller.

Doubt opens on September 11, 2014 and runs through September 28, 2014. Performances are Thursdays at 7:30pm; Fridays at 8:00pm; Saturdays at 3:00pm and 8:00pm; and Sundays at 2:00pm. There is a post-show talkback on Sunday, September 14, 2014. Tickets are $45 - $50. Senior tickets are $40 - $45. Student tickets are $15 (with a valid ID). ### GRACE IN ACTION (WOBURN)

With a zoning amendment constituting the first phase of the project, plans to redevelop the vacant W.R. Grace site into a hotel with three restaurants may soon emerge before various government bodies," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"According to Ward 5 Alderman Darlene Mercer-Bruen, whose East Woburn district includes the 13-acre parcel at 369 Washington St. near Olympia Avenue and Route 128, she and a variety of other city officials have recently been apprised of the major redevelopment proposal for the federal Superfund site.

"Mercer-Bruen isn't sure when a formal petition will be filed with the city, but at a minimum, the City Council will need to issue a special permit for the project...

"Though specific details about the proposal are still being hammered out, local attorney Joseph Tarby, who is currently representing the applicants, explained that his clients wish to build a major hotel on the land, two full-service restaurants, and another retail structure that will house a fast-food eatery.

"According to Tarby, before any formal petition is submitted, the development team needs to amend the city's zoning code to allow for the joint-enterprises — a hotel and restaurants — because local ordinances forbid a mixed-use development from having two primary uses.

"Other hotels across the city, like the Hampton Inn on Mishawum Road right down the road from the W.R. Grace property, have an attached restaurant, but those eateries are viewed as an accessory use to the hotel itself.

"In the case of the 396 Washington St. plans, the two full-service restaurants would operate independently and have no formal business ties to the major hotel chain operation.

"The two restaurants are allowed by right, but our zoning says you can have only one principal use on a site," Tarby explained in a brief interview last night. "[City Council President] Richard Haggerty has filed legislation that would allow mixed uses for a hotel and restaurant."

"According to the local lawyer, the zoning amendment will likely be discussed for the first time at the City Council's Sept. 16 meeting...."

COMMON ACCESS (BURLINGTON)

"Individuals requiring adequate handicapped access to the gazebo on the town common will soon be able to reach that destination with ease after the Board of Selectmen unanimously approved a $30,000 transfer of funds request that will see new paths created for those in wheelchairs," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Town Administrator John Petrin stated the Burlington Disability Access Commission (DAC) has been seeking an access point on the town common to the gazebo (located at the center of the town common) that is more accommodating than the current setup...

"He revealed the plan which includes taking a path right across the main town hall entrance and creating and redoing the wall so there can be proper wheelchair access to the main path surrounding the gazebo.

"A wall has to be built, a ramp added, and the entire town common sidewalk is going to have to be redone with a 5 percent slope grade (the highest percentage allowed)," said Petrin...

"So we can take the funds from the Disability Access Fund and (the initiative) won't be a Town Meeting action item," explained Petrin, noting the plan is to start construction in the spring of next year and have it ready by next summer...."

ARTS ALIVE (WILMINGTON)

Thanks to Wilmington/Tewksbury

Crier Correspondent Sharon Adelman Crowley.

"It's not just for artists," notes Crowley in the "Town Crier."

"When was the last time you painted a picture? Made a collage? Allowed yourself to doodle?"

"Art isn't just for artists. Art is for everyone..."

"...And there's plenty of opportunities nearby. Adult, Child, Teen, and Family programs are available throughout the North Shore. Here are a few for you to explore:

"...the Wilmington Art Center, in the Old Town Hall, is sponsoring a series of eight watercolor classes open to both newcomers and experienced artists beginning in October. What better way to experience the season than try to capture it in paint? The lessons start October 2, 9:30 AM - noon or 1- 3:30 PM. The Art Center on Rt. 62 is by the Town Common. For more information contact Louise Anderson at 978-664-3159."

"...Creative Arts in Reading, MA offers theater, music and visual arts under the same roof. This year, the program celebrates its 30th anniversary and welcomes you to try a new art. Visit the website as lessons, classes and workshops are added throughout the year. February 2015 (oops?) vacation week programs are also available. Classes are held in Reading and Andover. See www.creativearts-forkids.org..."

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA: Since 2007, only two teams not named Tennessee or Connecticut have won the NCAA Division I women's basketball championship. Name one of them.

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Stonehill College has been picked to finish 11th in the Northeast-10 Conference men's soccer preseason poll, as selected by the league's 14 head coaches, the Conference office announced.

Stonehill received 48 points, 11 more than 12th-place University of New Haven, and 12 fewer than tenth-place Saint Michael's College. Last year's NCAA Division II champion, Southern New Hampshire University, is favored to capture its third consecutive conference title after receiving 168 total points and 12 of the 14 first-place tallies. Merrimack College was picked to finish second by the league's head coaches with 146 points, while Adelphi University received 143 points, including the two remaining first-place nods. Southern Connecticut State University (141 points) and Franklin Pierce University (129 points) rounded out the top-five of the poll.

Stonehill returns 18 letter winners, including eight starters, from last year's squad. SENIOR GOALKEEPER ADAM COLELLA (WILMINGTON, MASSACHUSETTS/ST. JOHN'S PREP) posted consecutive shutouts last September, and he earned the first NE-10 Goalkeeper of the Week award of his career for his efforts. The Skyhawks will be experienced on the defensive end, as juniors Anthony Cavazza (New Windsor, New York/Cornwall Central) and Evan Devanny (Concord, New Hampshire/Concord) and sophomore Patrick Keogh (Garden City, New York/Garden City) are all back after starting every match last fall. Junior forward Drew Montano (Avon, Connecticut/Avon) is the team's top returning offensive threat, with a team-best six goals over the past two seasons, while senior forward Ben Zandonella (South Windsor, Connecticut/South Windsor) has five scores over the same time frame.

Stonehill finished the 2013 campaign at 5-10-1, including 4-8-1 in conference play. The Skyhawks won their first two NE-10 matches of the season and three of their first five contests overall, but ended up 11th in the league standings. Keogh was recognized by the conference at the end of the season with his selection to the NE-10 All-Rookie Team.

•Stonehill College has been picked to finish third in the Northeast-10 Conference football preseason poll, as selected by the league's ten head coaches, the Conference office announced.

Stonehill collected 67 points, including a first place vote, to earn its No. 3 preseason ranking by the league coaches - its highest NE-10 preseason ranking in program history. The Skyhawks received one less point than the University of New Haven (68 points) who is picked second, while defending Conference champions American International College picked up 81 points and the remaining nine first place votes. Assumption College and Merrimack College (47 points each) are picked tied for fourth, while LIU Post (44 points) is picked sixth, Southern Connecticut State University (37 points) is seventh, Bentley University (31 points) eighth, Saint Anselm College (19 points) ninth and Pace University (nine points) rounds out the poll in tenth.

Stonehill returns 73 letter winners and 15 starters from last year's squad which posted its best season in nearly 20 years with an 8-3 record overall, including an 8-1 mark in the Northeast-10 to earn a share of its first NE-10 regular season championship. The Skyhawks posted their first winning season since an 8-2 campaign in 1996 and fell a win shy of the single-season program record of nine in 1995. Stonehill finished above .500 in NE-10 play for the second-straight year and third time in head coach Robert Talley's seven seasons at the helm.

The locals on this year's roster include:

Andrew Kibarian	So
DE 6-2 225
Lynnfield, Mass.
7Tim Carbonneau	Fr
OL 6-1 250
Wakefield, Mass.
Kevin Dick	Fr
WR 6-2 192
Tewksbury, Mass.
Kyle Lentini	Fr
TE 6-4 243
North Reading, Mass.

Stonehill appeared among teams receiving votes in the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) Division II poll for the first time in program history and was ranked in each of the NCAA Division II Super Region 1 rankings last fall. Stonehill finished ranked sixth in the final ECAC Lambert Meadowlands poll, after being ranked as high as fifth during the breakthrough campaign.

•Need some help with the trivia question? One team starts with a 'T', the other with a 'B'.

•Meg Flatley (Townsend, Mass.) and Lindsey Nerbonne (Bow, N.H.) both scored a goal for the University of New Hampshire field hockey team, but Indiana University rallied from each of those one-goal deficits to record a 3-2 victory at the University of Louisville's Trager Stadium.

IU (1-0) scored all three of its goals - all off the stick of Audra Heilman - in the second half to overcome a 1-0 halftime deficit. UNH (0-1) was outshot 17-8.

UNH GOALKEEPER

CARLIE TARBELL (WAKEFIELD, MASS.) finished with seven saves while IU counterpart Maggie Olson recorded all four of her saves in the second half.

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Texas A&M and Baylor.

Cactus & Succulent Show, Americal Civic Center, Wakefield Sept. 13-14

For the first time, the Cactus & Succulent Show will be held this weekend, Sept. 13-14, at the Americal Civic Center, in Wakefield.

Sat. show hours are 11 AM - 5 PM and vendor marketplace 9 AM - 5 PM. Sun. show and marketplace hours are 9 AM to 5 PM.

After 8 years, the event outgrew its previous home at the Tower Hill Botanic Garden in Boylston, MA and moved this year to a spacious new home in Wakefield.

One of the largest Cactus and Succulent Shows on the East Coast, it will showcase hundreds of the most spectacular and rare cactus and succulent plants, grown and exhibited by avid hobbyists from all over New England. The plants will be competing for prize ribbons in a judged show with over 100 classes of plants that are native to arid climates, from northern Canada to the tip of South America and from Scandinavia to Africa and Asia.

The Eastern Prickly Pear, Opuntia humifusa, native to the eastern USA up to hardly arid Cape Cod, is transported to Woburn, where Harmon spent five months working on it. The replica version weighs 900 pounds, slightly less than half of the original version.

The cannon was unveiled at the commemorative ceremony at the Count Rumford Museum. One of the highlights was the appearance of the count himself, portrayed by Dean Howarth, a living history instructor from Arlington, Va., who according to Harmon has performed historical presentations at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

The centerpiece of the event, however, was Leonard Harmon's replica cannon, which will remain in tribute to Woburn's most famous and flamboyant scientist, inventor, soldier and historical figure.

Herbed Salmon Steaks

Even those that have tried salmon many times and still dislike salmon will eat this. It's that good!

Ingredients

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 salmon steaks, 3/4 inch thick (3/4 pound)
- 1/2 teaspoon onion salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

1 Heat oven to 400°F. Heat butter and lemon juice in square pan, 8x8x2 inches, in oven until butter is melted. Place salmon in pan; turn to coat both sides with lemon mixture. Sprinkle with onion salt, thyme and pepper.

2 Bake uncovered 25 to 35 minutes or until salmon flakes easily with fork. Sprinkle with paprika; serve with lemon wedges and parsley.

GRENADIER ROB LEE, Gerry Bigwood of Wilmington and Middlesex Canal Commission Chairman Thomas Raphael of Winchester enjoy themselves outside of the Count Rumford Historic Birthplace in North Woburn.

14th annual Reading Rotary auction Sept. 27

$30 gets you in to great event

The Reading Rotary Club will hold its 14th annual Auction on Saturday evening Sept. 27 at 6 p.m. and this year it will be held at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading. Always a huge success, there will be close to 100 items available in both a "silent" and a "live" format.

The general public is invited to attend with the silent auction starting at 6:00 pm. There will be an tremendous amount of food served throughout the evening. There will also be a cash bar and a number of raffle prizes.

All proceeds from the evening go towards scholarships for the Reading Scholarship Foundation, Peter Sanborn Van, Rotoplast, Reading Public Library, several school projects like Arbor Day trees and dictionaries and many other worthwhile Rotary projects.

Tickets for the event are available at the Davis, Clark

& Latham Insurance and the Peter Sanborn Place, Reading Chronicle as well as from Reading Rotary members.

This year the topic for the event is October Fest. The cost is $30.00 and you don't have to bid on any item. Or bid on as many as you want. There are lots of great deals on both small and large items. There's something for everyone. It is just a fun filled evening with a ton of laughs and lots of great bid items.

Probably the two most popular auctioneers in Reading, Steve Chuha and John Douglass will act as auctioneers and if you haven't seen them, you've missed an hilarious act. They have fun and they have tons of values. This is their only stand-up performance of the year.

Again the date is Sept. 27 at 6 p.m. at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading. Come and enjoy.

Shortcuts for parents for fast weeknight meals

Most people are busy balancing family life and careers. This can make mealtime challenging. Sometimes it seems easier to go through the drive-through lane of the nearest fast-food restaurant than to spend time in the kitchen. But making dinner doesn't have to be time-consuming or difficult.

Arriving home from work at 6:30 p.m. and then thinking about making dinner leaves many people feeling stressed out. It is possible to create healthy meals the entire family will enjoy with planning and smart time management in the kitchen.

Here are some tips that can make for easier meals in a snap.

* Mark the calendar. Sure it may seem like a page right out of the school cafeteria operations, but planning at least two weeks of meals in advance can alleviate the toughest part of meal creation - deciding on the menu. This enables a person to shop for all of the ingredients and stock up the pantry and the refrigerator. Come mealtime, it's simply grab and cook.

* Prep in advance. Some people like to spend Sunday afternoon pre-cooking items that will be used during the week. For example, one can bake chicken cutlets that can be used for a variety of meals later on. Or slice and dice items so that the preparatory work is done. Package into individual baggies or bowls for later use. Sometimes the longest time spent on meals is the prep work.

* Take some shortcuts. Not every meal that is cooked needs to be entirely from scratch. Mix fresh-made elements with store-bought options. For example, serve barbecued flank steak with prepared salad greens from your grocer's refrigerated section and cornbread from their bakery.

* Consider breakfast foods. Breakfast foods tend to cook faster and with less prep work than others. One night a week serve pancakes, French toast, omelettes, or Belgian waffles. It's easy and tasty.

* Invest in a slow cooker. Slow cookers cook food on very low heat for several hours. Many now feature programmable displays so a person can punch in the cook time and the slow cooker will automatically shut off when done. Individuals can come home after a long day of work and school with an entire meal fully cooked and ready to eat.

* Stir-fry satisfies. Meats and poultry cut into smaller strips and pieces will cook much faster than an entire steak. Pair this with favorite flavors, such as ginger and teriyaki and seasonal vegetables (fresh or frozen) and serve over rice or noodles. There are dozens of stir-fry recipes a person can create with a little experimentation.

* Have leftover night. One night of the week can be set aside for leftovers to clean out the refrigerator. Simply reheat and serve, letting each member of the family concoct a buffet-style meal, featuring a little of this and a little of that.

* Make-your-own. Foods that involve participation are enjoyable and often fast. Tacos, fajitas, personal pizzas, nuggets and dipping sauces - all of these options are quick to make and eat. Plus, they get the kids involved in meal preparation.

* Pastas a plus. A pot of pasta can be boiled in 7 to 10 minutes. In roughly the same amount of time, it is possible to put together a sauce to top the pasta, whether oil and garlic, tomato or something cream-based. Pasta should be the go-to dish when a person is short on time and needs a hearty meal.

Cooking for the family during the week can be done quickly and easily with organization and a little know-how.

Following the race, invite your non-running/walking family members to join in the fun with a hearty Pancake Breakfast - pancakes, scrambled eggs, bacon, sausage, coffee, tea, juice. Just $5 per person, sponsored by the Tewksbury Events Committee.

Wear your costume and participate in our costume contest. A kids costume contest will also occur after the race during the pancake breakfast.

The proceeds from the run will benefit Tewksbury students through scholarships.

Tewksbury Rotary Club has a proud tradition in the community, raising money for student scholarships through our annual Taste of the Town event at the Tewksbury Country Club. In ten years the club has awarded more than $100,000 in scholarships. The Rotary club brings together business and professional leaders who provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, and help build goodwill and peace in the world.

Show From S-3

Massachusetts' own native cactus, a hardy beauty with huge, yellow flowers in June. Limited quantities of plants will be available for only $1.

Not just spines, there is an amazing array of hundreds of cuddly and fuzzy succulent plants from both tropical and temperate areas.

In the marketplace, there will be 17 vendors, some of the best specialty growers in the East, selling rare and unusual plants plus books, prints and cards.

Each day, there will be an auction of rare collectible and specimen plants and guided tours of show plants and displays.

The show is presented by the Cactus & Succulent Society of Massachusetts, the 2014 winner of Mass. Horticultural Society's prestigious Gold Medal Award. Check out the Society's web site, www.cssma.org and click on the Annual Show tab at top of the page. Admission is $4 for adults; $2 for children 10 and under; toddlers and infants free.

Americal Civic Center, 467 Main St., Wakefield. Rte.128 (I-95) Exit 40.

patio.

One kitchen counter also has a half wall in front, so that those who are standing at the kitchen sink face into the great room. In this efficient kitchen, all you have to do is turn away from the sink and take a step to reach the large cook-top work island. A raised eating bar that wraps around two sides does triple duty, serving also as a conversation bar and homework supervision station.

A good-sized utility room is nearby, down a short hallway and next to a garage access door. Around the corner, coat and storage closets fit neatly into alcoves on both sides of the opening that leads from the entry into the great room. The study off the entry is in a nice location for a home office, or it could be furnished as a third bedroom.

Another study area, this one a cozy nook with a built-in desk, is down the hall. It's across from the Porterville's main bathroom and close to both the owners' suite and bedroom two. Owners' suite amenities include a deep walk-in closet, and a bathroom with a large shower, dual vanity and private toilet.

Deer Hunt planned for Parker River Refuge, apply by Friday October 3rd

A controlled white-tailed deer hunt has been scheduled for Wednesday, December 3, 2014, at Parker River National Wildlife Refuge, Newburyport, Massachusetts. As an integral part of a comprehensive Refuge Wildlife Management Program, this annual hunt helps maintain the deer population at a level commensurate with the available habitat while providing recreational opportunities for the hunting public.

The hunt is by Refuge permit only with a maximum of 35 hunters, including up to 4 paraplegic hunters and 15 standbys, to be selected by public lottery on Tuesday, October 7, 2014 at 4:00 pm at Refuge Headquarters, 6 Plum Island Turnpike in Newburyport.

To apply for a permit, send a single 3" x 5" card containing your complete name, address, daytime phone number and Massachusetts deer hunting license number to Refuge Headquarters. To allow for two people to hunt together on the same day, up to two hunters may apply on the same single 3" x 5" card but all the required information must be included on the card for both applicants.

Only one Paraplegic hunter is required for a buddy team to qualify for the paraplegic hunt lottery. A paraplegic hunter may also have an assistant who is not allowed to hunt and whose name and other information should not be included on the application. A paraplegic hunter should note "paraplegic" on his/her application card so as to ensure entry into the paraplegic hunt lottery. Only one application is permitted per party. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be submitted, one for each hunter, with the application. All applications must be received by COB, Friday October 3, 2014.

Successful applicants must attend a one hour Refuge Hunter Safety & Orientation Program scheduled for the morning of Saturday, November 22 at 9:00 am or the make-up orientation on Monday, November 24 at 6:00 pm. Both sessions will be held at the Refuge Headquarters. The lottery winners will be charged a $20 permit fee to participate in the Refuge hunt with the fee reduced to $10 for holders of valid Golden Age or Access Passports.

The hunt zone will consist of approximately 1400 acres on the Plum Island section of the Refuge. To ensure public safety, the entire Plum Island section will be closed to all other activities for the day of the hunt.

For further information contact Refuge Headquarters located at 6 Plum Island Turnpike Newburyport, MA 01950, or phone 978-465-5753. Office hours are Monday - Friday, 8 am - 4:00 pm, excluding federal holidays.

Taxes

ships, counties, and other jurisdictions. In Canada, property taxes, or millage taxes, are levied by the jurisdiction in which the property is located. They may be paid to a federated state or a municipality or the national government. Sometimes multiple jurisdictions may tax the same property.

Although the taxes are mandated by a higher governing power, the rate at which you pay taxes could be based on a very local assessment of the area in which your house is located and the current market conditions. An assessor will visit a home - usually prior to purchase - and make a determination on the percentage of tax to be paid depending on the condition of the home, the improvements that have been made and the climate of the economy in your particular town or city. Property taxes are usually calculated by taking the assessed value of your home and multiplying it by the tax rate that has been determined by your local government.

While no one can "legally" escape paying property taxes, there are several ways to have them lowered. Getting your home re-assessed is one such way. Individuals who have reached a certain age may be eligible for certain discounts on property taxes. But this may require a very low income to qualify. There are also some tax credits or home-stead exemptions that may qualify you for a limited assessed value on the property.

According to data from the Tax Foundation and Forbes, areas of New Jersey, New York and Illinois boast some of the highest property taxes. Residents of Hunterdon County, New Jersey paid on average $8,600 a year between 2005 and 2009. Those in Lake County, Illinois pay around $6,500. People living in Westchester County, New York can plan on spending $8,400 per year. Statistics indicate that homes located in Ontario cities in central Canada have the highest property taxes. Toronto residents, for example, pay an average of $3,900.

In this tough economy, lowering property taxes (which are generally rolled into the mortgage amount for ease of payment) could substantially reduce bills. As many as 60 percent of properties across the United States are overassessed, according to the National Taxpayers Union, a nonprofit group that promotes lower taxes.

If you suspect your property taxes are high, here are the steps to take.

* Get a copy of your property tax assessment from the local assessor's office and double-check all the information contained to see if it is correct.

* Check the assessments of five comparable homes that have sold in your neighborhood in the last three years.

* An independent appraiser can also provide you accurate information at a cost. Make sure he or she is licensed with the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers or by the American Society of Appraisers.

This weeks Sampler: Porterville

A classic and modern home

The Porterville's transitional exterior seamlessly integrates both traditional and contemporary styling elements. Traditional elements include the decorative porch columns, slender shutters, arched-top trim with a central keystone, and multipaned windows. The floor plan and overall shape of the exterior are much more contemporary.

Unlike traditional homes, separation between gathering spaces is minimal. A great room with a window-flanked gas fireplace is the largest of three linked areas. It has a wide opening that leads into a naturally bright bayed dining room where sliding glass doors open onto a covered

taxes

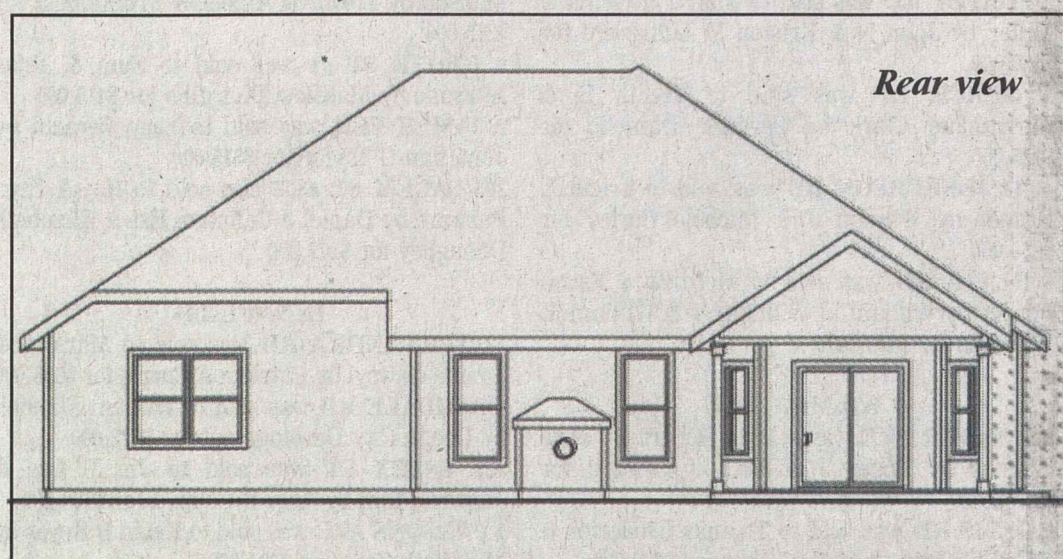

Paying property taxes is a necessary side effect of home ownership. Across the United States and Canada, residents are required to pay property taxes based on an assessment of their homes' value.

Taxes on land and the buildings on it are one of the biggest sources of revenue for local governments. In the United States, property taxes are not imposed by the states, but by the smaller governing bodies in cities, towns, town-
